LONDON, Feb. 18.—In the House of Lords to-day the Lord Chancellor moved the first reading of the Judges' Jurisdiction bill, and argued at length the necessity for its enactment. In the House of Commons, Mr. BUXTON gave notice of an inquiry as to what action, if any, the Government proposed to take in regard to a revised translation of the Bible. A motion was made for the appointment of a select committee to inquire into the expense of the Abyssinian war. In the address the Governor announced himself in favor of confederation with Canada, and stated that it was the policy of the Imperial Government. By the terms of the confederation Canada assumes the commercial debt of British Columbia. The population is rated at 120,000. The debt is less than that of any other Province. The Dominion grants yearly $35,000 so for each inhabitant over the rated population, the same to be continued until the population reaches 400,000, at which rate the subsidy remains.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.

San Francisco Again Sharply Shaken—A General Rush for the Streets—The Effect on the Buildings—No Lives Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—Another earthquake visited this city to-day, causing hotels and public buildings to be vacated instanter. The streets were filled with people before the shock had hardly ceased. Fortunately it occurred about the time of recess in the public schools, and many of the children were out playing. In the schools which were in session the teachers managed to keep the children under control, though in one of the schools the young girls created quite a panic. The Custom House was injured, but was soon emptied of its occupants. The cracks made by the October shock in some of the older buildings were widened a little, but no material damage was sustained.

Funeral services were being held in the Washington-street Baptist Church, and there was a large attendance. At the first tremble the pastor and congregation rushed for the doors. Several ladies fainted, but no one was seriously injured. The old frame buildings on the wharves swayed and creaked, but the waters in the bay showed no unusual commotion. The shock was quite heavy at Petaluma, causing the people to vacate brick buildings. The weather was clear and warm at the time of the shock. It is raining this evening.

SECOND DISPATCH.

The sharp shock of the earthquake was at 12:15 o'clock. Its duration was seven seconds. Its direction was from southeast to northwest. There was a general panic, but no damage was sustained to buildings so far as ascertained. The shock was felt at Sacramento, Santa Cruz, San Jose, Oakland and other places.

THE WEST.

NEW-ALBANY, Ind., Feb. 18.—An excursion train from Louisville, consisting of two locomotives and fifteen passenger coaches, containing 2,000 persons, has just arrived, having crossed over the great bridge with perfect safety. The greatest enthusiasm prevails. The strength of the bridge is no longer doubted.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 18.—As the excursion train was returning the State from the Indiana shore, and when about midway on the bridge, one of the rear locomotives ran off the track, and a coupling-pin connecting the passenger coaches broke, leaving eight cars on the track. The other portion of the train, propelled by the forward engine, reached the Kentucky shore safely. A train was then started back to the assistance of those who were on the bridge, but it had not proceeded more than fifteen yards when the track spread, and a tender and a caboose were thrown from the track. Strenuous efforts are being made to replace the locomotive, in order to release the 1,500 persons who are now on the bridge awaiting conveyance.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 18—Midnight.—All those who were on the train on the bridge have reached the shore in safety.

An Eagle which Prefers to Pick up Corn with the Pigeons.

Mr. DORSEY's attempt to set the captive eagle free from the roof of an engine house in Pawtucket, R. I., on Thursday, was made in the presence of a large crowd and with a band at hand to play the "Star Spangled Banner," "Hail Columbia," &c. A poem was read and then—but we will not abbreviate the remainder of the story, which the Providence Journal tells thus:

After three cheers each for Mr. Dorsey, the Monitor Engine Company, and while the band was playing "Hail Columbia," his majesty was liberated by Mr. DORSEY, assisted by John BERKELY, under whose care the bird has thrived during its confinement. He needed no second invitation, and in a moment was in the air, amid prolonged cheers from the multitude, who were prepared to watch his proud flight. But alas! the good care he had received and the bountiful freedom dinner he had been given were too much for his so long fettered wings, and he was compelled to alight on a house scarcely a hundred yards from his old cage, where he sat in proud contempt for the expectations of the people. In a moment snow balls from the hands of small boys flew thick and fast around him, but a cock of the head and a jerk of "Shoo fly" was the only notice he deigned. As the band commenced "Yankee Doodle" he started a second time, and for a moment seemed likely to reach his own broad blue; but as he receded from the inspiriting strains of the music, the attraction toward earth was too strong, and he began slowly to descend, till in attempting to light in a large elm tree, his talons became entangled in the swing, and the proud emblem of our nationality was trailing in the air, helpless, and humble enough to gratify the most traitorous heart. Here he hung, till a young man, ROBERT BALLPRAY, climbed the tree, and attempted to release him, when, with a touch of his native humanity, he went for ROBERT's head in the most approved bird-of-prey manner, with beak and talons, and a lively struggle ensued, ROBERT finally coming off victorious, and the eagle again in the air. But high living was the ruin of him, and he gradually fell to the ground, and was taken back to his old quarters, where he awaits the action of his would-be liberator, Mr. DORSEY."

WASHINGTON.

The Movement for the Reduction of Taxation—Position of the Funding Bill—The Cadet Investigation—Confirmation of Judge Strong—Proposed Change in the Income Tax.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The impression has gone forth, in connection with the recent action of the Ways and Means Committee in voting a reduction of internal revenue taxation, that this action was the result of a comparison of views with the President; but there was no conference between the Committee and the President, though such reports were current during yesterday outside the Committee room. Your correspondent spent several hours last evening in ascertaining precisely what was done and why it was done. The result appears in your dispatches of this morning. It happens that General SCHENCK, the Chairman of the Committee, while dining with the President on Wednesday, incidentally alluded to the subject, when the President gave expression to the conviction that taxes ought to be reduced. As stated on Thursday morning, at the meeting of the Committee, the consideration of the Tax bill was resumed, and a point was reached where it became necessary to fix the basis on which revision should proceed. Mr. BLAIR moved to fix it at a reduction of thirty millions, which was agreed to. General SCHENCK then remarked that it was a curious coincidence, but that amount was precisely the amount which the President had suggested to him the evening previous as the proper reduction on internal revenue. The Committee up to that moment were unaware of the President's views and had acted independently of them. The development of this agreement of opinion was coincident merely, and the fictitious importance with which the coincidence is invested, is not justified by the actual facts. The Committee did not know until yesterday the gratifying fact that the President agreed with them on this subject. As to the reduction of internal revenue taxation since the close of the war, the statistics show some very strong facts which many people who talk about war taxes seem to overlook, to wit: the reduction of the tax on manufactures in 1868 was equal to one hundred and thirty-two millions, and the total reduction of internal revenue taxation since the last session of the Thirty-ninth Congress equals a sum several millions greater than the sum total of present yearly collections. This fact at once shows that Congress has never turned a deaf ear to the necessity of reducing taxes, inconsistent as its course sometimes may seem; and incongruous as its elements are, there is, nevertheless, little danger that it will fail in this work now. As to the Funding bill, there is no truth in the report that it is to be abandoned, or that the Ways and Means Committee have decided to recommend its postponement when it reaches them. It will come up in the Senate next week, and Mr. SHERMAN will press its passage. Secretary BOUTWELL is very anxious to have the power at hand, so that he may make the trial whenever the condition of public affairs will warrant.

THE CADET INVESTIGATION.

The cadet investigation proceeded to day, two witnesses being examined—Mr. BELKNAP, of New-York, and Mr. BROOKS, of this city. Mr. BELKNAP exhibited the original of the letter said to have been written by Congressman WHITEMORE, of South Carolina, offering to sell his West Point nomination for $800. Other testimony was given yesterday, going to show that this same representative subsequently asked $2,000 for the same appointment. Mr. BROOKS testified to having conducted the negotiations with the two members of the Fortieth Congress from Louisiana, STYPER and BLACKBURN. The negotiation with Mr. STYPER never reached a conclusion. Mr. BLACKBURN received $1,000 for two appointments, one at West Point and one at Annapolis. Mr. FITZGERALD, of Philadelphia, who is alleged to have been paid $1,000 by Mr. RESACK, for an appointment several years ago, has been summoned and will testify to-morrow, when Mr. BROOKS will be recalled. Evidence is coming in fast, though it mostly relates to members of the House now beyond the reach of punishment.

CONFIRMATION OF JUDGE STRONG.

The Senate went into Executive Session to-day, and took up the calendar. The nomination of Judge STRONG for the Supreme Bench gave rise to considerable discussion, but he was finally confirmed. The yeas and nays were not called, although there was a great deal of opposition manifested. Mr. STEWART entered a motion to reconsider. Mr. BRADLEY was not so fortunate as Mr. STRONG. His nomination, too, was taken up, but the adjournment took place without reaching a vote.

THE INCOME TAX.

From the conversation of individuals, members of Congress, it is not very probable that the income tax will be abolished altogether. But it is very evident that some important change will be made in the law. The proposition in reference to it, which appears to meet most favor, is that of enlarging the sum to be exempted, to say $2,000 or $2,500. This, it is claimed, would relieve the large class of business men and clerks, who now complain of the oppressiveness of the tax.

THE APPROPRIATION BILLS.

The House spent another entire day on the Legislative Appropriation bill, and has not yet got half through with it. There was a two hours' contest over the Supervising Architect of the Treasury, and a determined effort to crush him out, during which several members exhibited an ignorance of public affairs and of the requirements of public buildings which ought to make their constituents ashamed of them. But the effort to squelch this honest and efficient officer failed. The next contest was on the pay of the women clerks in the Treasury, on which there was a great deal of smart talk and some broad fun. No change was made in this feature, though several converts to the woman's rights cause were discovered among the members.

IN THE SENATE.

The Senate was almost wholly occupied to-day in the consideration of District of Columbia business. A bill regulating the Dairy laws was passed, after which the bill in reference to the International Exposition gave rise to the usual onslaught on Washington and its inhabitants from men like Mr. STEWART, of Nevada, who appears to think it a very witty and patriotic thing to abuse this city whenever he can get an opportunity. Mr. SHERMAN spoke strong words for the national capital, and showed how the interests of the District have been for years persistently ignored by Congress. He alluded to the divided jurisdiction over local affairs, and said that the people here cannot be justly blamed for the condition of the streets. They had been asking for years to be allowed to pave them, and pay for the work themselves, but Congress would not give them the necessary authority. Mr. NYE paid his respects to Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, and made the latter's illiberal and bigoted course on this matter seem very mean indeed. Mr. SCHURZ, in the interest of St. Louis, presented some statistics to show that all Expositions but the first had been failures, and that this must therefore fail.

THE LONDON EXPOSITION.

Mr. N. M. BECKWITH, who has been appointed Commissioner-General of the United States for the London International Exhibition of 1871, occupied the same position in connection with that held in Paris in 1867. He has been in Washington for some days, making preparations to place the subject fully before the public, and to prepare the way for a successful illustration at London of the capacity of our manufacturers and artisans in the departments to be represented in the exhibition. The commendable manner in which Mr. BECKWITH caused our productions to be represented at Paris will give the public confidence in his ability to have these productions equally well represented at the London Exhibition. Mr. BECKWITH serves without pay.

RIVER AND HARBOR APPROPRIATIONS.

The Sub-Committee who have in charge the River and Harbor Appropriation bill in the House, meet to-morrow to begin work on that important measure. The amount asked for, especially by the West, is very large. One million of dollars is asked for Hell Gate; and there is also a bill asking a large sum of money for the improvement of Port Jefferson Harbor, and for the erection of several lights and lighthouses in the vicinity of New-York. The Committee propose to allow as much as possible, consistently with the condition of the country.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS IN ALASKA.

The Secretary of the Treasury has sent to the House a reply to a resolution calling for a statement of the disbursements and receipts in Alaska since that territory was incorporated into the United States, &c., by which it appears the disbursements on account of the revenue cutter service by the Collector of Customs at San Francisco, in excess of what would have been disbursed had the vessels remained in port, were $150,000; disbursements by the Collector of Customs at Sitka on account of collecting revenue from Customs and the revenue cutter service, $101,856; disbursements on account of special service, $6,224; disbursements on account of the War Department in excess of what would have been disbursed had the troops been stationed elsewhere in the United States, $200,000; disbursements on account of the Post Office Department to Sept. 30, 1869, $212—total disbursements, $307,793. Receipts from customs, $21,320; receipts from Post Office, $518—total, $21,838. Disbursements in excess of receipts, $275,955. The Secretary of War says that of the $200,000 spent by the Department, more than $150,000 were expended in the purchase and equipment of a steam vessel employed in the transportation of public troops, which vessel, with due allowance of wear and tear and risks of navigation, will long continue to represent a considerable portion of the sum expended on the same.

FEES IN COTTON CASES.

An official document from Secretary BOUTWELL was laid before the Senate to-day, in reply to a resolution asking how much of the appropriation of $100,000 has been expended for defending certain suits now pending in the Court of Claims known as "the cotton cases." It appears that the following named persons are employed at regular salaries: Hon. Reverdy S. HALE, special counsel; OLIVER S. LOVELL and SAMUEL AMES, associates to the special counsel; Wm. FERRENDEN, chief clerk, besides three other clerks and a stenographer. Mr. HALE received for services and expenses $16,949; J. R. KERR, as Special Counsel, twenty-five thousand dollars. The entire expenditure among the numerous individuals employed was $81,000, of which sum for defending the Secretary and his agents Hon. G. D. DRAKE received $8,000 in the Elgee case; CALEB CUSHING, $1,180 in the trespass case, and L. E. BRASHEAR, $1,817 for prosecuting suits.

SENTENCES OF COURTS MARTIAL.

By direction of the Secretary of War in cases where the sentence of a Court Martial involves confinement for a definite period of time, confinement shall be considered as beginning at the date of the promulgation of the sentence in orders, if the person sentenced is in custody at that time, unless the time for its commencement is otherwise fixed by the sentence of the Court or in the order promulgating the proceedings.

ARMY OFFICERS AS INDIAN AGENTS.

By direction of the Secretary of War, the following named unattached officers are detailed to execute duties of Indian agents under authority of the act of Congress of June 20, 1869, and are ordered to report to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs for assignment to duty and instructions: Brevet Colonel L. C. BOOTES, Major; Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel C. G. HARTWELL, Captain; Brevet Major W. P. WILSON, Major; Captain H. L. BECK, First Lieutenant; W. H. ANDREWS.

Barton have been ordered to Philadelphia for examination for promotion. Commander D. K. Owen is detached from command of the Seminole and placed on "waiting orders." Lieutenant E. S. Keyser, Assistant Surgeon F. E. Hartlett, Chief Engineer John W. Long and the remaining officers of the Seminole are detached and wait orders. Commander Ralph Chandler is detached from command of the Tallapoosa on the 30th of April and ordered to the New-York Navy Yard. Lieutenant C. A. Schlotty is detached from the Sangus and waits orders. Master Wm. H. Webb is detached from the Navy Station at Mound City and ordered to the Sangus. First Assistant Engineer A. T. E. Mullen and Second Assistant Engineer Wm. T. Wells, from the Pigmouth, are placed on waiting orders.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Friday, Feb. 18.

Mr. SUMNER forwarded to the Clerk's desk and had read a telegram he had received from the Governor of Nebraska announcing the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment by the Legislature of that State with but five dissenting votes.

MEMORIAL AND PETITION.

Mr. SUMNER presented the memorial of the Faculty of Harvard College asking that such rank be accorded to the medical officers of the navy as is befitting an honorable profession and conducive to the efficiency of the naval service. Referred to the Naval Committee.

Mr. SHERMAN presented a petition from many thousand citizens of the States of Connecticut and Maryland for the recognition of Cuban independence. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

The following bills were introduced:

By Mr. SPENCER—To change the time for holding the United States District Court in Alabama.

By Mr. WILSON—To make the importation of immigrants under labor contracts unlawful.

By Mr. HOWELL—Granting lands to aid in the construction of the Dakota and Northwestern Railroad.

THE OCEAN MAIL SERVICE.

Mr. CONKLING introduced a bill to encourage the building of steamships in the United States, and to provide for the transportation of the United States mails to Europe in such vessels. Referred to the Committee on Post Office and Post Roads.

It directs the Postmaster-General to contract with the North American Steam Navigation Company of New-York for the transportation of the mails between New-York and Antwerp, or Bremen, touching at Plymouth, for the term of fifteen years. The steamers are to be exempt from State and Federal taxation and to receive the ocean and inland postages on mails carried by them.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. POMEROY, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a bill granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad from the western boundary of Minnesota to the Winnepec Territory; also a bill authorizing the location of agricultural scrip by actual settlers.

Mr. HOWARD, from the Committee on the Pacific Railroad, reported with amendment the joint resolution authorizing the Northern Pacific Railroad Company to issue bonds for the construction of its road, and to secure the same by mortgage; and also to construct its main road to the western terminus via the valley of the Columbia River.

BILLS PASSED.

Bills were considered and passed:

Extending the time for the construction of the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad; relative to settlers on the late Sioux Indian Reservations in Minnesota; amending the usury laws of the District of Columbia.

THE FUNDING BILL.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN, the Funding bill was taken up, and, by a vote of twenty-one to fourteen, was made the special order for Wednesday next, Monday being assigned for the consideration of business from the Committee on Commerce.

INCREASED FORCE FOR THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

On motion of Mr. SUMNER, the bill creating the office of Solicitor for the State Department and for other purposes, was taken up.

Mr. TRUMBULL said the question suggested by the bill was whether we were to have an entire Department of the Government a Law Department, and consequently a variety of decisions upon every question. He preferred that such officers should be subject to one head. In other words, that there should be an accommodation in the Attorney-General's office of the business belonging to it.

Mr. SUMNER said the immediate wants of the State Department required the assistance of a Solicitor and the proposed clerical force. The innumerable applications relating to claims on foreign Governments, and kindred questions, which he was impossible for the Secretary himself to peruse, rendered the adoption of this bill necessary. He then read a letter from the Secretary of State upon the necessity of the office.

The bill was amended to provide for an Examiner of Claims in lieu of a Solicitor, and then passed.

THE WASHINGTON EXPOSITION.

A bill to encourage and promote the international exhibition, to be held in Washington City in 1871, was debated by Messrs. HAMLIN, PATTERSON, NYE and SHERMAN in favor of the bill, and Messrs. THURMAN, MORRILL, of Vermont, STEWART and SCHURZ in opposition.

Mr. THURMAN said that under the pretext of making the exhibition creditable to the nation, the Government would be obliged to shoulder the bulk of the expense, otherwise it would prove a miserable failure. He regarded the whole thing as a humbug, and with the view of saving time he moved to postpone the bill indefinitely.

Mr. HAMLIN said he had been informed by wealthy men of Washington and others having the matter in charge that they could make the project a success without further charge to the Government. That was specified in the bill. The entire charge was submitted to two gentlemen of fortune, one of Washington and the Government vessels of foreign articles to be delivered at the various ports of this country, and the preparation of the grounds for the exhibition.

Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, said that the experiment of the citizens of Washington in attempting to induce the very abusive term of the capital by getting up an international exhibition, would be proved a dangerous one in the event of the failure of the project, for then reproaches upon the city would be multiplied. He believed the time appointed was not propitious, as the Sixth, crippled by war, could not compete with other nations. He would have Congress take care of Washington, but did not desire ever to see the nation's capital take rank with the great overgrown City of New-York, where it is held that our form of government was a failure. A serious objection to building the proposed exhibition at Washington, was the fact that in order to get here we had to pay Maryland a tax of about fifty cents, and in addition to that, all who came from the northeast had to pay New-Jersey a tax of about $1.

Mr. STOCKTON desired the Senator to repeat his remark about New-Jersey, as he did not hear it.

Mr. MORRILL replied that his remark was in reference to the tax of $1 to which all travelers had heretofore been subjected in riding across the State of New-Jersey; but he was informed that the monopoly has recently died out.

Mr. STOCKTON said he would improve upon the opportunity afforded by the gentleman's observation to correct a slander which has for years been circulated against the State of New-Jersey. That State had never directly, or indirectly, taxed a single passenger for crossing the State. Their method at one time was to collect a tax upon the business of the Camden and Amboy Company, which was really a privilege to the traveling public, because the tax assessed in any other way would have been much larger, and the difference might come from the pockets of the passengers; but this special method of taxation was now obsolete, not because the system was not a wise and fair one, but because of misunderstandings in regard to it.

Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, inquired whether the practice of the Company for one time was not to demand a dollar more fare from through travelers than from way travelers.

Mr. STOCKTON replied that his object had simply been to answer a remark which applied to the State of New-Jersey, whether the railroad Company did at any time make discrimination between local and through trav

CONTINENTAL AFFAIRS.

The Debates on the Commercial Treaties—The Changes in the Prefectures in France—The Stamp Duties on French Newspapers—Political Indications.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Friday, Feb. 4, 1870.

The commercial question still continues to occupy under one form or another the attention of the Chambers, although the reference of the whole subject to a Committee of Inquiry would seem to render unnecessary these interminable debates. Yesterday the interpellation of M. DUSSIAUX on the expediency of repealing the law of the 10th of May, 1866, concerning the mercantile marine, gave rise to another long discussion, which is being continued to-day. The public are becoming thoroughly tired of this conflict of statistics, which, up to the present time, had only served to prove how figures can be made to lie, and they look forward with impatience to the moment when the whole subject will be consigned to the investigation of a parliamentary Committee.

The discussion on M. GREVY's proposition to confer on the President of the Corps Legislatif the right of calling out a sufficient force for the protection of the Corps Legislatif, passed off without renewing the angry scenes which usually follow these provocations from the Left. The Minister of Public Instruction, M. SEGRIS, treated the motion as one of distrust in the Ministry, and under these circumstances it was not difficult for him to procure its rejection by a vote of 217 to 43.

THE PROSECUTION AGAINST ROCHEFORT.

M. ROCHEFORT has paid up the fines imposed upon him by the tribunal which recently sentenced him by default for his treasonable article in the Marseillaise, and now held himself ready to abide the supplemental imprisonment to which he was condemned. It is probable, however, that he will not be afforded the political martyrdom which he covets. It is said that M. OLLIVIER throws all the responsibility of his arrest upon the Magistracy, and that the latter are indisposed to proceed to any further measures of rigor. If this be so, it will produce a very bad effect. The prosecution was an ill-advised proceeding, but once resorted to, it should be followed up to the complete vindication of the law. If the tribunal hesitates to issue a warrant of arrest, all the benefit resulting from the prosecution will not only be lost, but an actual encouragement held out to treason. I cannot believe that M. OLLIVIER will permit the sentence to slumber after his declarations in the Chamber. No one will accept his shifting of the responsibility from his shoulders to throw the odium of pusillanimity on the Judges. The Minister of Justice is all-powerful in such case, and he has only to issue his orders to have the sentence strictly carried out.

THE CHANGES IN THE PREFECTURES.

It was thought that when the new Ministry came into office full satisfaction would be given to public sentiment in regard to the functionaries who had violated the freedom of universal suffrage by their edicts and manœuvres during the last general election. Such, I am sorry to say, is not the case. A few Prefects a poigne have been momentarily disgraced (M. JANNIER DE LA MOTTE is already spoken of as likely to be named Councillor of State) whilst others have actually received promotion. Amongst these latter I may mention M. THAREAU, who has been promoted from Perpignan to Clermont Ferrand. It was he who secured the success of M. JUSTIN DURAND, the official candidate, who signalized himself by the wholesale corruption of his constituency. By a singular coincidence just as M. ISOARD, Prefet des Deux Sevres, is transferred to other functions, the Mayor of Saint Amand, M. BIGAGNET, who was declared to be in his second childhood by this same M. ISOARD for electoral purposes, has just been indorsed by his Municipal Council as being perfectly sane. It states that the only symptom of folly which they had ever known to be manifested by him was his invincible repugnance to official candidatures. It is to General CHANGARNIER that M. MASSON owes his nomination to the Prefecture du Nord, one of the best in the gift of the Government. M. DE SAINT PONCY was formerly Secretary of M. DE LA GUERRONNIERE, the Minister to Brussels, and it was through the latter that his appointment was made. M. DE CLOZIERES is the son-in-law of the Grand Referendary of the Senate.

M. NYON, Mayor of Ajaccio, and a friend of Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE, has been appointed Secretary-General of the Prefecture at Marseilles. I must not omit to add that the Prefects placed en disponibilite received 6,000 francs ($1,200) a year.

THE STAMP DUTY ON NEWSPAPERS.

The prospect of a reduction of the stamp duty on newspapers, and of its total abolition within the course of a year or two, is likely to flood us with another avalanche of dailies and weeklies, although there are but few of the journals now in existence which are doing more than clearing their actual expenses. The worst paid journalists in the world are those of France, and hence the innumerable shifts to which they are obliged to resort to eke out a living and the little consideration in which they are held by the community. I know several of the best political writers attached to the leading Paris journals who do not receive as much salary as a New-York reporter. It is to be hoped that when the restrictions are removed from the French Press, which at present operate as obstacles to enterprise on its part, the position of its contributors will undergo a corresponding amelioration.

Amongst the other reforms contemplated in connection with the Press, is that of the reduction of the cautionnement. This will be a great boon to the journals which are maintaining a struggle for existence, but I question whether the more prosperous dailies will hail the measure as conducive to their interests, for the present oppressive amount of the cautionnement (50,000 francs) has had the effect of excluding competition.

POLITICAL INDICATIONS.

It is a subject of general remark that at the receptions of the new Ministers, a number of once familiar faces are to be met with which have not graced the Ministerial salons for twenty years. Thus M. GUIZOT and M. THIERS are, notwithstanding their advanced age, constantly to be found patronizing the dinners and evening parties of the new men who are bridging over the chasm which had separated these veterans from the Empire. Is the reconcilement sincere, or is it merely suggested by the hope that the "liberal empire" is a delusion and must inevitably lead to the restoration of the ORLEANS family? It is impossible to witness the strange political fusions which are daily occurring without a suspicion of this kind suggesting itself. It is said that the Emperor is not less keenly alive to the dangers than are the most watchful of his adherents, but what can he do? He allowed the time to pass when he might have controlled the current, and now he is compelled to wait patiently and see in what direction it will carry him.

GENERAL FRANKLIN.

Major-General FRANKLIN, President of the Colt Arms Manufacturing Company, has just returned to Paris from St. Petersburg, after accomplishing, successfully, the business which took him there. He speaks gratefully of the cordiality of the reception which he met with in the Russian capital. Mr. CURTIN, our Minister, he says, is in high favor with the Emperor as well as with the Court generally, and promises to be one of the most popular Ministers that have ever been sent from Washington.

Suicide of a Bereaved Woman.

From the Cincinnati Commercial, Feb. 11.

When the remains of Captain BERNARD C. MARTIN, of the Maggie Hays, in the explosion of which boat he was killed, reached here on their way up the river to the residence of the Captain's mother, in Sisterville, West Va., the bereaved wife of the Captain, who had been in an almost distracted condition of mind ever since the news of his death came, took passage on the Mary Ament to go up with the body, which was shipped on the N. B. Hudson. She left on the Ament, ahead of the Hudson, intending to get off at Chilo, attend to some business there, and then proceed up on the Hudson. The unfortunate woman was, however, scarcely in her senses half the time, and so it happened that in a freak of her insanity she changed her mind and did not get off, but continued up the river until early yesterday morning, when, as the Hudson was about passing the Island, she jumped overboard from the deck of the ladies' cabin and was drowned. She had several times declared that she did not want to live any longer, since the man she loved was dead. The poor woman was 34 years old, and lacked two days. She was a daughter of SAMUEL LIEBERMAN, a blacksmith on Water-street. She leaves no children, her only child having died last Summer.

The Pittsburg (Penn.) Chronicle has discovered a way out of the difficulty respecting the Bible in schools. It is this: That each sect which is represented in the common schools have the use of certain rooms at certain hours of the day to read religious exercises, if they so choose.

State Treasurer RHOADES, of Nevada, died suddenly a few months ago, and recent investigations show that he was a defaulter to the amount of $109,000, part in gold and part currency. Extravagant living and disastrous stock speculations did the business. His bondsmen, it is said, deny their accountability on the ground that the examiners neglected their duty to count the money in the Treasury monthly.

An Eastern clergyman, who called upon a lady to condole with her upon the supposed loss of her husband while out in his boat to sea, was told by her that "BENJAMIN dearly loved his Bible; and if he was called to leave, he was prepared to go, for he was a good man." Here a long silence ensued. Finally, drying her tears, the wife said in a low and earnest tone, "Well, if he did go, it must have been that same gust that slewed the barn." The missing man subsequently returned.

General JUBAL EARLY has written for the Richmond Enquirer "a very able argument," in which he asks in his plain way whether "it is now admissible for one who, like himself, has not gone into ecstacies over the readmission of the State to representation in Congress, under humiliating conditions, to entertain an opinion at all?" The Enquirer pats JUBAL on the back, and tells him that the people of Virginia will never fail so low that they will not see to it that such a man as JUBAL EARLY shall have his opinions expressed and respected in his native State.

The Japanese Commissioners to the Sandwich Islands, to investigate the condition of their countrymen there, arranged with the employers that any Japanese on the Islands who might choose should be released from their contracts for three years, the Japanese Government affording them transportation home, while those who chose to remain should, at the expiration of their contract term of service, be returned to Japan at the expense of the Hawaiian Government. About forty of the 180 availed themselves of the privilege and were sent home. The others said they were willing to serve out their time—about eighteen months more.

During a recent voyage from Bangor, Me., the schooner Emily Hilliard, Captain THURSLOS, was overtaken by a fearful storm, and the Captain's wife, who was on board, took her turn at the pumps regularly, and once, when the worn-out seamen declared they would pump no longer, she took an ax and threatened instant death to the first man who left his station. She carried her point, and the vessel and lives were saved. The merrisons were nearly exhausted, and they were six days without a sight of land. They had decided to draw lots to see which one should die by his own hand for the others to live, when a favorable wind came and the vessel reached Boston.

The Auburn News of Tuesday reports that ex-Secretary SEWARD had written to that city that he proposed to visit Hayti "as soon as the political affairs of the island rendered it agreeable for him to do so;" and that after a short stay in that country he would proceed to San Domingo, where he would remain until April, in order to avoid the trying weather of March in our climate. The telegraph yesterday reported that he had arrived at Key West, Fla.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Navy in Congress—Somebody to Blame.

Who authorizes the useless expenditure of labor and material in alterations in almost every ship or small craft, after being built and finished, but before going into commission? Who authorizes this expenditure of from $20 to $25,000 on almost every one of them? Ask the Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repairs, and navy constructors, how much of their appropriations is thus uselessly expended. The waiting-rooms on board our United States ships are palaces in comparison with the stance ship of the Monarch. Look at the useless expenditures in composition and brass castings on our ships of war. Who is to blame for the hundreds of tons of this metal, when good, strong, plain galvanized iron would answer the purpose much better? Who is to blame for the alterations in rigging and spars of many of our ships, and detention caused thereby, calling for surveys, and sending the vessel to sea, when a month would answer much better? How many officers of the navy serve half their "sea service" alongside the wharf, or in dock, by such means as this. How many worthy battles have been fought by officers in the navy for a block-tin dish cover for their table, and for the expense to which the Bureau of Equipments now much the furniture and outfits, especially dining sets and Brussels carpets, now cost. Who is to blame? Somebody is. If Senators and Representatives could but be made acquainted with the minutiæ of our navy, a remedy would be applied. X.

The Cost of America—Another Reply to "Taxpayer."

In yesterday's paper I noticed an article by "Taxpayer" in relation to "the cost of the militia," and his objections against purchasing some seventy acres for a suitable drill ground. The writer must have been lamentably ignorant of military matters, for he bases his objections upon two things: First, that it would be used but once or twice a year; and second, that the militia are only of service to quell riots. In regard to the first objection, had he taken pains he would have found out that the ground would be used by every regiment in the City three times a year, and allowing that we have only twelve regiments, there are thirty-six days already provided for. His second argument is so plainly false that the only refutation it needs is to refer the public to the services of our National Guard during the late war. Having no standing army of importance, our country depends upon its militia for its defense, and yet he begrudges the militia any money. When they know that they are thus provided with an army, the duties of which fall not upon them but upon those who give their time and also their money to the support of their different organizations. The "same warriors," as he is pleased to call us, do their duty, give their time and spend their money without grumbling. We leave that to the heroic men who, like "Taxpayer," in all probability, never handled a musket in their life. H. J. B.

QUICK TRANSIT.

New System of Transportation; or, System of Sphere-Locomotion.

The great advantages of rapid and cheap transportation are so well understood at the present day that it is unnecessary to explain the importance of an invention that proposes to transport the mails and products of the country—its grain, fruits, meats, cotton, high wines, oils, minerals, coal, and merchandise generally—to and from all parts of it in a few hours, instead of days, and at a cost far less than by means of railroads. It will at once be admitted that such an invention, if practicable, will be of incalculable benefit, and will inaugurate a new era in the industrial and commercial interests of the world. This invention, so new and unlocked-for, has been made, and patents have been secured for it in this country and in Europe. It introduces a new principle, and with it a new system, quite different from those in use. The new means or instrument of locomotion which it employs is the sphere—an instrument which it substitutes in the place of the wheel. The sphere is the simplest and the true form of a vehicle of motion. It revolves on its periphery without friction, as proved with the wheel, and hence it has the highest rate of speed attainable by any form of material body. Nature, in all departments in which she requires high velocity, employs the sphere as the form best adapted to rapid and unvarying motion, as is exemplified in all her works. The planet Saturn, which is a spherical body, rotating on an imaginary axis, is the falling drop of rain, which assumes the spherical form in passing rapidly through free space. The invention, following Nature in her teaching, employs the sphere or globe as its vehicle of motion. To adapt it to the purposes of transportation, it is made hollow, and the load to be carried is placed inside. Thus, hollow spheres or globes, carrying their load inside, are the vehicles used under the new system. They may be of any size, from two feet to ten in diameter, according to the service to be performed. The material of which it was adopted, of the metals, (cast steel, if practicable,) thin, and turned in a lathe with exactness and precision, so as to roll evenly and smoothly. They would be provided with apertures, or "man holes," (made to screw in so as to form a part of the surface,) by which they could be loaded and discharged easily and quickly.

THE NEW ROAD BED OR TRACK.

The new vehicle requires an equally perfect road bed, or track, on which to operate. This road bed is greatly improved by the invention of the pneumatic tube and its successful employment. Pneumatic tubes have been constructed in London, and are now in regular operation, mail matter and packages being sent through them. A little railway, with cars to be placed inside of them, so that the old vehicle of transportation on the wheel-and-axle principle has been transferred to the interior of the tube, operating within it as it does without, the only change being the substitution of atmospheric pressure in place of traction by locomotive power. The properties which the tube possesses fit it perfectly for receiving the new vehicle of motion. It will furnish the vehicle, first, a road bed that is even smooth and solid; second, entirely free from dirt and dust, or other obstructions, and protected against the perturbing action of the wind, rain and snow; and, third, a passage way, in which the sphere, moving in with the current of air, will not be deflected in their course by the resistance of the atmosphere. The tubes will be constructed a very little larger than the sphere, to allow them a free passage. A metallic rail or plate will be placed as a road bed on the bottom of the tube, of a suitable width and concave, to adapt it to the convexity of the sphere. From these explanations, it will be seen that the invention consists in employing hollow spheres or globes, with the load to be transported inside, operating in pneumatic tubes. The tubes may be laid under or over ground, but better over, raised some fifteen feet in the air, and supported on posts or piers. Wood is the best material with which to construct the tubes; it would not expand and contract with the heat and cold like iron, while it would be far cheaper. Narrow plank tongued and grooved, properly seasoned and saturated, the latter to prevent rot, would furnish the best kind of material. By a system of way-stations and relays of power at proper distances, the lines of tubes can be made to connect the towns and cities of the entire country, and rapidly and cheaply transportation to and from all parts of it.

WHAT IS A SPHERE?

It is a whole, composed of circles in all directions. Comparing it to the wheel in order to explain the relation existing between them, it may be defined—an integral wheel. As a unit, made up of circles or peripheries of wheels, equally distant from a common centre, it possesses equal sides which, balancing each other, render the sphere self-poised so that it stands upright without the aid of axle support. Possessing this property, it may further be defined, a self-balancing wheel. Rolling on its periphery as it moves, and without the aid of the real axle, there is no rubbing, hence no friction, neither at the centre nor the circumference, so that it may be still further defined a frictionless wheel. Uniting these properties, it may then be termed (leaving up the comparison instituted) an integral, self-balancing, frictionless wheel, which is constructed hollow, to fit it for the purpose of transportation. If we consider the two vehicles—the wheeled and spherical—in their relation to each other, we find that the former is composed of parts of the latter; hence less complete, and as a consequence less perfect. These parts, resulting from the subdivision of the sphere, recombined, with axle trees, enable them to be used on the natural road bed furnished by the earth, which was the cause of their being early resorted to. From this we see that the sphere is to the wheel what the whole is to the parts; that it is more complete and higher in its construction, which gives it superior qualities as a vehicle of motion. The sphere, in addition, acts as a unit in moving. SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT—PART II.—FEB. 18.

Before Judge Brady and a Jury.

A SHALLOW RIVER—CURIOUS CASE.

Charlie Hamilton vs. Thomas A. Pope et al.—In this action the plaintiff claims that defendants unlawfully blew to take his boat to Croton River and Croton Landing, and to take 100 tons of pig iron for them from one or both of those places to Cohoes; that when he got there he found the Croton River, as defendants well know, too shallow for his boat when loaded; that he was offered to take a load from Croton Landing, but defendants told him to take it from Croton River or from nowhere.

The defendants denied everything, and especially that they were responsible for the shallowness of the Croton River. The jury rendered a verdict for plaintiff for $50.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM—FEB. 18.

NOTES OF DECISIONS.

The following are some of the leading points decided to day in the following cases, which were argued at the last January term:

INDIRECT ASSAULT—SLANDER EVIDENCE.

Michael Scott vs. James Lynn.—This was an action brought by the husband of a deceased wife, whose death he claimed was produced by an indecent assault committed upon her by defendant, while she was walking through a lonely part of the Cemetery of the Evergreens in Cypress Hills, on Sunday, July 24, 1864, the effect that while in the day time she was passing along on her way to a neighbor's, defendant came out of the woods with several large dogs; that he first tried to hitch her to be unfaithful to her husband, and failing in that he violated her person, the dogs all the time howling around. As soon as she was released she went home and told her husband. The shock of the injury she was seriously injured by defendant, and died from the effects of those injuries some time after. The husband thereupon brought a suit in the Supreme Court of this district, which came before the jury and a verdict of about $5,000. The defendants counsel thereupon moved for a new trial, which was granted, and from the order thus made the plaintiff appealed to the General Term, which reversed the order and affirmed the original decision, Judge TRUNKHAM delivering the prevailing opinion and BARNARD, J., concurring. Judge BRADY delivered a dissenting opinion.

THE TEST FOR GREENBACKS—DUTIES AND LIABILITIES OF PARTNERS.

The American Bank Note Company vs. Tracy R. Edson and Tracy R. Edson vs. The American Bank Note Company.—In these cases Matthews, an employe of Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, bank note engravers, discovered the use and application of the green ink which for the last six or eight years has become so well known in the manufacture of the greenbacks of the Government. The discovery was first secured from Matthews on assignment of this patent. At that time there was but little demand for the green ink, and Matthews offered it to his firm, and they, after [illegible] the matter, declined to purchase it of him, preferring to stand in regard to it on the same basis as other engravers—that of paying so much per thousand impressions. Subsequently this firm, with the other chief bank note engravers, united in the American Bank Note Company each throwing in all their machinery, &c., which was valued in a schedule which each partnership subscribed to, and which was accepted by the company in surrender of all the assets, machinery, &c., which was owned by each establishment to the new Company. The new Company continued to pay a royalty to Edson till about 1867 when they refused to pay him any more. The payment of the royalty was then continued to 1868. After that the Company refused to pay more and commenced an action to get back the money paid, and Mr. Edson commenced a suit for his royalty.

On the trial before the referee of the two suits, he held that Mr. Edson's relations to his partners made the business one by which the firm was liable, and business could be carried on a purchase for their benefit, and the purchase therefore enured to the benefit of the Company. He therefore gave judgment in both cases against Mr. Edson and Mr. Edson appealed.

Mr. Justice BRADY's dissenting opinion goes for the principle, but the opinion of the Court delivered by Mr. Justice DAVIES holds that the business done by a member of the firm of matters pertaining to the business of the firm is not absolutely void in favor of the partnership, but is to be considered as only exposing the members of the firm to the liability of the firm, and the liability to the firm to render them an account of the profits. That in this case it appeared distinctly that the firm had waived their rights, and the right to enforce their contract, by receiving the money, therefore, transferred by the partners to the Company. With regard to the transfer by Edson to the new Company he holds that it merely conveyed his interest in the property he had bought to the Company. Both judgments are therefore, reversed.

THE LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS.

Aspinwall vs. Ramsay et al.—This and a large number of other cases were brought on the same cause of action. The parties to the suits were all stockholders of the Mexican Ocean Mail and Inland Transport Company, which failed. A judgment was obtained against Mr. Aspinwall and on it he sued his stockholders for contribution and obtained judgments against them. The defendants in those suits appealed, claiming that under the act of incorporation the stockholders were only "severally" liable, and therefore could not sue each other for contribution.

The Court below, however, has held that though the case in which contribution was sought has been brought in cases of joint liability, yet the reason reason on the equitable principle that common advantage is to be met by common loss, and as there is no case holding that a joint liability is necessary to sue for contribution, he decides the defendants liable and affirms the judgment of the Court below. In the case of Burnham vs. Bowman, where, it appeared, merely took the second mortgage on the charter of Mr. Vanderbilt, and after words being misled by Mr. Ramsay, bought the stock, but without having it transferred in the books to him, the Judge holds that he is not liable and reverses the judgment of the Court below.

AN APOLOGY OF THE REBELLION—NOTICE OF PROTEST DURING CIVIL WAR.

Harden vs. Ryan.—The defendant in this suit was the indorser of a note, and resided in Greenville, N. Y. The plaintiff sought to give his notice of protest after the civil war had broken out, and after the President had proclaimed that the Southern States were in a state of insurrection, and that all communications between the citizens of the two sections was unlawful, by depositing the notice in the Post Office, directed to Greenville, Greene County, N. Y. The Court below held this notice good; but the General Term, Judge BARNARD rendering the decision, decided that it was not, reversing the decision, and ordering a new trial.

WHAT ARE DISCONCERTANTS IN THE JURY ROOM.

Sohn vs. The Schooner A. W. Thompson, Her Tackle, &c.—This was a libel filed by the owner of the sloop George Freeman to recover for the damages sustained by her by a collision between her and the schooner A. W. Thompson, on Sep. 15, 1868, in the Hudson River, off the Battery. The sloop had been at anchor, and was just getting ready to get up her anchor, and was [illegible] for it was partly up, but not drawing. No one was on her helm, and she was substantially helpless. The schooner was bound around from the East River, and was heavily loaded with coal. She was in Pier 14 in the North River, went about on her starboard tack, and very soon after was into the sloop and sunk her.

Held by the Court—That the schooner was in fault in standing in so far before backing, seeing as she did the position of the sloop. She was running too and should have easily avoided the sloop. The defendants are liable for the damage done by the collision.

Before Judge Joseph and a Jury.

RIGHT TO RAILROAD PASSENGERS.

Joseph E. Priest vs. The Hudson River Railroad Company.—According to a regulation of the Hudson River Railroad Company the employes are directed to admit as passengers on the trains who to not provided with a ticket. The plaintiff attempted to get on a train at Yonkers, N. Y., and being refused a ticket, he offered to pay the fare, but failed, owing to Mr. [illegible], the plaintiff being the more powerful man. He now brings suit for damages to the amount of $5000, alleging that the Company's employe kicked and knocked him down, severely injuring him. The evidence tended to show an assault of no violent character, it was proved, but only a slight one.

The jury found a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, assessing the damages at $1,000.

Before Judge Daly and a Jury.

LIABILITY OF COMMON CARRIERS—SERVANT OBEYING ORDERS.

CAL. SHEE.

Marcus P. Woodruff et al. vs. The Camden and Amboy Railroad and Transportation Company.—In July, 1868, a quantity of cotton was transferred to the premises of one [illegible] in the City of New-York. The cotton was originally shipped by the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company, acting in behalf of the Union Transportation and Insurance Company, with [illegible] Memphis for [illegible] by a certain [illegible] and subsequently by other [illegible] on board the line of defendants. The defendants the [illegible] (Pier No.) North River, where a fire occurred, destroying nearly two bales of the value of $2,000, including interest. To recover this $2,000, suit is now brought by the plaintiffs. Defendants set up as a defense to the only [illegible] of Lading, bill of lading, in which it was stipulated that the Company would not be responsible for the loss of the cotton by fire, and that the terms of their charter, of liable at all the liability is limited to $100 for any loss of any bale of cotton, and at the same rate for a more or less quantity, according to which the loss would not exceed the sum claimed. The circumstances of the case as developed by the evidence are substantially as follows: The cotton, 125 bales, in all, was shipped from Cairo, Ill., under a bill of lading, stipulating for their delivery at New-York for a stipulated rate of freight (which is not material to the decision of the case), the companies of the connecting lines, including the defendants, by whom it was transported on the Company's dock, on Pier No. 1 North River.

On this pier, beneath a frame shed, covered by a corrugated roof, the cotton was piled, together with a large quantity of inflammable matter, such as oil, whisky, [illegible] and [illegible], a little after midnight a fire broke out on board the Company's steamboat John Potter, lying alongside the dock, which spread rapidly to the dock and consumed with great rapidity the shed with its contents, including the cotton in question.

The Court held that the defendants were entitled to the benefit of the conditions of the original and intermediate bills of lading, and that notwithstanding the claim contained therein, exempting liability for loss by fire, the Company was nevertheless liable for such loss if resulting from the negligence of the defendants, being a law applicable to the case, whose all the testimony, running through several days, was directed to the question of negligence on the part of the defendants. At the close of the testimony the learned Judge Potter summed up the case in behalf of the defendants, contending that on the next and able argument that the cause resting upon the plaintiffs to show negligence, on the part of the defendants, resulting in the destruction of the property, in order to hold the defendants liable in the face of the conditions of the bill of lading.

Luther R. Marsh, Esq., followed in an argument on behalf of the plaintiffs, in which, after reviewing the general principle of law fixing the liability of common carriers, he argued from the testimony elicited in the case, that the circumstances of burning contributed so strongly to negligence on the part of the Company as to throw upon it the responsibility of showing by its answer upon its defense. Mr. Marsh then recapitulated the circumstances of the fire. No effort on the part of the defendants, he said, had been made to extinguish the fire at the roof of the shed in which this property was stored. If he could do that, he might be employed to argue the tarred pavements out of existence, or to argue that the Croton is a washbasin on board the Potter, nor lift the oil and whisky on the shoulders of his eloquence. He (Mr. Marsh) would contend that the defendants did not exercise due diligence or be even proper care in protecting the property. If so, they were negligent; that it was not a case of fire arising from inevitable accident. If the fire had been elsewhere and away over upon the defendants, that would be one thing; but it was not so. It originated on the defendants own boat. It did not arise from the practical working of the boat. She was at her moorings and not in motion. The fire had been kindled, gushed. The mighty demon in her towels was not at work. She was so constructed that she could not well ignite from her boiler heats. Then how did it ignite? It was the duty of the defendants to show proof. I care nothing about the question whether we are in the first instance, to show they were careless, or whether they are, in the first instance, to show they were careful and careful. For what? If upon the fire they are broke out on the defendants' boat, in her hold, when she was not at work, but quietly at her pier, that makes a case that calls for explanation. The defendants in already charged, I say, upon us. It leaps from our shoulders to theirs, (if it ever were on ours,) when that fire appears. Counsel talk as if fires started themselves. Let him arise on a cold day, without a fire in his house, at noon, and, like the hands on the Potter, arrange his kindling wood and tunnel coal in the grate, and call on the fire to burn. Will it obey? Somebody must apply the match. Let his friend, Lynch, stand in amazement the morning. His cries would be as ineffectual as when the prophets of Baal, after arranging their altar, cried on his name from morning until noon, saying, "O Baal, hear us." Somebody or something started the fire. It did not start it itself. It commenced on defendants' premises. It commenced where it had no right to be. This implies negligence, and it is wholly unexplained. Defendants have not shown that it was inevitable. They have not excused it or shown its cause. We were not there, and cannot show it. We had no right to go on the premises. We had no right on the wharf, no right to enter their gates. We might have knocked the skin off our knuckles before Old Pete, the Cerberus that has guarded their gates so many years would have let us in. The defendants could have, of a dark night, and yet, they call on us to explain the fire and to show they were guilty of negligence. How absurd this claim! Not independent of all fault, they have the case of Edson, the fire wholly without explanation, the other circumstance show a clear case of negligence. Yes, of carelessness, little, if any, short of wilfulness. The defendants are exclusive owners of this pier. As nobody else could go there, nobody else could have started the fire. This pier, with its appurtenances, is covered with a wooden roof coated with tar, not iron, not tin, not metal, not even shingled, but spread with pitch, offering a home to fire, beckoning every flying spark. A wonder it has not camped before by embers from smoke-stacks of passing tugs. Here, under this roof, they received all imaginable products, not here, perhaps, of small combustibles, tobacco, tar, oil, glue, oils, whisky, liquors. Defendants owned four steamboats, plying from Amboy to New-York, making their landings here, all sleeping around this dock. On the night of the fire there was no watchman on either of the boats, nor on the Potter—all hands asleep. A cry from the pier awoke them. Those on the Potter, by, naked, for their lives. The interior of the boat was all ablaze. Her hold in full of fire, as but in one of his own features set work. Flames spout up, at first vent, several feet, and soon leap for the pier. There they catch the turpentine roof, run over it like a prairie fire in a dry season, the catch the hemp, the oil, the whisky, the tar, the wood and the hard, and soon, [illegible] in almost instantaneous. It wakes for the gates faster than the firemen can run, and out of their escape. They leave their cherished engines behind, and the firemen, [illegible] if they can, escape with their lives, and in half an hour from the time the fire first breaks out on the Potter, the whole fabric has vanished. We contend that the more like fidelity to the interests of the property the care required. After showing at length the great liability to accident which the Company permitted to exist, Mr. Marsh went on to argue that it clearly amounted to culpable negligence, and contended with the counsel of the Company, which for years, he said, had held the Legislature of New-Jersey in bondage, controlling an immense proportion of the carrying trade, and which was entitled to the consideration in return for this immunity from liability to those who commit their property to its charge.

Judge DALY charged the jury, reviewing all the facts, holding that the contract exempting from liability for loss by fire to be good, except in case of negligence on the part of defendants, submitting the question of fact to the jury whether such negligence existed or not.

The jury had failed to agree up to a late hour, and a sealed verdict was directed.

Marsh, Cox & Wallis for plaintiffs; Sanford & Woodruff and ex-Judge Porter for defendants.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Recorder Hackett.

Patrick Saxton pleaded guilty of burglary, on an indictment charging him with having broken into the store of Mulchy & Co., No. 49 Chatham-street, with intent to steal. He was captured while in the store. He was sent to State Prison for five years.

A WOMAN CHARGED BY HER DAUGHTER.

A Cuban named Francisco Zepeda was placed on trial. It was alleged that he made a lascious assault on Elizabeth Lewis, of No. 14 Roosevelt-street. STEALING FROM AN IMMIGRANT.

William H. Summers, recently tried and convicted on charges of grand larceny, was arraigned for sentence. His counsel was an immigrant named Lynch, residing in Hoboken, whom he met in Albany-street, this City. At the time of the meeting Summers pretended that he wanted Lynch to go with him to England to purchase horses, after which he invited Lynch to get the money he had with him converted into gold. The prisoner was sent to State Prison for five years.

The evidence was very meagre. In the course of the examination Marshal's counsel and the Deputy District Attorney had each other, making use of the grossest personalities, and were with difficulty brought to order by the presiding magistrate, who declared their conduct most ungentlemanly.

THURSDAY, Feb. 18—P.M.

An unusually easy Money market has been reported to-day. The offerings of capital, especially on private account, have been in excess of the wants of borrowers. Call loans have been quoted at 4@6, and prime mercantile credits, 6@7 ⅌ cent. ⅌ annum. The Government Office closed the day with a currency balance of eight and a quarter millions, showing a gain of over a million since yesterday. The coin balance of the Office this afternoon stood at $71,325,510, against $71,523,159 last evening. The City Bank Exchanges were eighty and a half millions, and the resulting balances, $2,004,202.

UNITED STATES TREASURY,
NEW-YORK, Feb. 18.

General balance yesterday	$64,317,812
Gold receipts	323,529
Gold payments	1,041,145
Gold balance	77,326,520
Currency receipts	1,420,046
Currency payments	325,507
Currency balance	3,341,015
General balance	65,641,310
Customs	196,000

More steadiness was reported in the dealings in the public funds, which were in somewhat better request, though the severe rain storm interfered with operations in this, as in other lines, of business. Very moderate offerings of bonds were noted at the going rates. The foreign quotations were again favorable to a buoyant market. The Funding project was discussed with some animation after the receipt of advices from Washington to the effect that, on having been brought up in the Senate this afternoon, it was made the special order for Wednesday next, Feb. 23. The friends of the measure expressed themselves confident of the success of the bill before the Senate; but were apprehensive of serious opposition in the House of Representatives.

The Gold dealings on the modified basis of 119@119⅛ showed more animation. There were rather free purchases at 119¼@119⅜, at which the bulk of the business was transacted. The speculative inquiry was a little more spirited. The Customs demand took over three-fourths of a million—making the daily average of this drain thus far in the current week, $710,000. The week's revenue of the port from this source promises to run handsomely over four millions. From Feb. 1 to date the Customs yield has been nearly eight millions, or an average of half a million for each business day, at the Port of New-York alone. The closing quotation for Gold was 119⅛. In the foreign exchanges only a moderate movement was reported, and prime sterling sixty-day bills closed weak at 108⅞ as the more general figure.

At the Stock Exchange a very variable market was reported for the more prominent of the Railways and miscellaneous property. The Vanderbilt stocks held their own well throughout the day. New-Jersey Central Shares were buoyant in the early afternoon, rising to 111¼ on free purchases, but left off at 109¾. Rock Island was sold down from 123¾ to 119⅞, closing at 120⅜. Northwestern Shares were pressed on sale, and were depressed in price. St. Paul Stocks were also weak on freer offerings; Preferred closed at 70⅞ as against 71⅜ last evening. The earnings of the road for the second week of February were a few dollars more than the corresponding week of last year. There was a further improvement in Ohio and Mississippi Shares, which closed at 31⅛ at the close, as against 30⅞ at the close of yesterday. Reading shares, which sold up to 94⅞, receded to 94⅝, or ⅜ off yesterday's final quotation. The general market closed weak and irregular.

After the late Boards the following quotations were made as compared with Wednesday night:

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

In the British House of Commons notice was given of an inquiry as to the proposed action of the Government relating to a revised translation of the Bible. It was denied that O'DONOVAN ROSSA had been flogged while a prisoner, since 1865. The Abyssinian war expenses are to form the subject of inquiry by a Committee of the House of Commons. The Land Reform bill is said to be acceptable to the Irish members of the House of Commons....The released Fenians are to be publicly "received" in Dublin. The Syra, from Newcastle for New-York, has been lost at sea with eight of her crew....The Spanish Cortes has before it a bill to abolish differential duties on the coasting trade of the Antilles, with a provisional tobacco duty. The Madrid papers say London and Liverpool merchants have sent £1,870 sterling to aid the suppression of the Cuban revolt....Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE is to be tried before the High Court of Justice on a charge of homicide through imprudence....ROCHEFORT still complains of not being permitted to write for his journal.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment by Nebraska was announced. A petition from several thousand citizens of Connecticut, in favor of Cuban independence, was received. Among the bills introduced was one by Mr. CONKLING to encourage the building of steamships in this country, and to provide for the transportation of the mails to Europe. The Funding bill was made the special order for Wednesday next. The bill providing for a Solicitor, and an increased clerical force in the State Department, was passed after being so amended as to provide for an Examiner of Claims instead of a Solicitor. The bill in relation to the proposed International Industrial Exposition, to be held in Washington in 1871, was next taken up and debated at length. During the debate Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, alluded to the tax of one dollar levied by the Camden and Amboy Railway on passengers passing through New-Jersey, to which Mr. STOCKTON replied, defending his State, as he said, from a "slander circulated for years." Pending the discussion, and without disposing of the subject, the Senate, at 5:15, went into Executive Session, and subsequently adjourned.

In the House but little business was transacted. A bill was introduced to regulate ocean telegraph communication, after which a long discussion arose as to the order of business. Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, urging the necessity of considering a bill providing for the removal of political disabilities. The House finally decided to go into Committee of the Whole and to resume the debate on the legislative appropriations. A number of additional potats in the bill were discussed with but little real progress, only four pages being disposed of. All propositions for an increase of salaries were rejected. After the Committee rose, Mr. BURNETT made a personal explanation in reference to charges made against him in a Buffalo paper. He denied the charges and said he should vindicate himself in a Court of law. The sum of $2,000 was appropriated for the investigation of the alleged sale of cadetships, and at 5:45 P. M. the House adjourned.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate yesterday bills were introduced by Mr. Madam-avenue and other citizens in New-York; to abolish the New-York Board of Supervisors, and to abolish the Metropolitan Police Commission. The bill for the benefit of married women by insuring their husbands' lives was reported. The bill to abolish the Canal Contracting Board, and the contracting system was made a special order for Thursday next. The bills to amend the charter of the Firemen's Warehousing Company, and to relieve corporations organized under general laws, were passed. The Senate adjourned to the evening of the 23d inst.

The Assembly passed the bill abolishing the Court of Special Sessions. The resolution relating to the payment of the auto-war debt of the State in coin was adopted. The Brooklyn and Jamaica Railroad bill was recommitted. The One Hundred and Twenty-fifth-street Railroad bill was reported; also, one requiring express companies to deliver packages within twelve hours after their arrival in New-York, instead of twenty-four, as at present, and the bill providing for the election, by the people, of the canvassers and inspectors of elections in Brooklyn. The resolution to adjourn to March 1, was amended to read Feb. 23, (Wednesday.) A bill was introduced to regulate the carriage of freight and fixing the rates on certain railroads; also one to extend the time for collecting excise fees in the Metropolitan District. The House adjourned to Wednesday evening next.

GENERAL.

Another sharp shock of earthquake was experienced in San Francisco yesterday, about noon, but fortunately no lives were lost. A general depopulation of the houses followed the first indication, and almost before it was over the streets were thronged by the panic-stricken people. The midday recess in the public schools had not ended, and no serious panics occurred. The effect on the buildings was to widen the cracks produced by the shock of last year.

The Legislature of British Columbia met on Thursday, when the address of the Governor was read by commission owing to the illness of Governor MUSGRAVE. It advocates confederation with Canada on the terms proposed—a yearly subsidy of $35,000, and 80 cents for each inhabitant, until the population reaches 400,000. The present population is 120,000.

The Senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of Judge STRONG, of Pennsylvania, as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

A party of ruffians attacked the cabin of a negro near Collinsville, Tenn., a short time ago, firing into the house and mortally wounding the wife of the negro. They then fired the house and refused to let the man and woman and their children out. The fiends became alarmed before the fire reached the inmates, and fled.

A statement sent to Congress yesterday by the Secretary of the Treasury shows the disbursement in Alaska, since the incorporation of the Territory, to have been $697,759, and the receipts from Customs and the Post Office, $21,000.

The new bridge across the Ohio River, at Louisville, was opened yesterday, and an excursion train passed over from the Indiana side. A train with two engines going in the opposite direction was less fortunate, as one of the locomotives got off the track and the train parted in the middle, one-half only passing over, drawn by the uninjured engine. A train was sent for the passengers in the detached cars, still on the bridge, but its progress was arrested by the "spreading" of the rails, and at last accounts 1,500 people were in an uncomfortable situation.

A Baltimore dispatch says the Monarch had not arrived at Annapolis at 10 o'clock last night. She was at anchor in the morning fifty miles below Annapolis. A heavy fog covered the Bay all day yesterday.

Five criminals were sent to State Prison by Recorder HACKETT in the Court of General Sessions yesterday.

In the case of JOSEPH S. PRATT vs. the Hudson River Railroad Company, to recover damages for injuries received through alleged neglect of defendants, the jury in the Superior Court yesterday returned a verdict for plaintiff of $2,000 damages.

An important case against the Camden and Amboy Railroad and Transportation Company for $22,000, will be found in our law reports for to-day. The case involves the liability of common carriers.

Hon. HORACE GREELEY lectured last evening on "Abraham Lincoln" in the Allen-street Methodist Episcopal Church, under the auspices of Post Dahlgren of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Official Power or the Will of the People?

When President GRANT assured the country that while on all subjects he should have a policy to recommend, he should have "none to enforce against the will of the people," we must suppose that he spoke of and for his Administration as a whole,—not simply for himself. For the Administration as a whole he is responsible, and the pledge he gave therefore applies to its entire action. He could not have meant that while himself prepared to acquiesce in the clearly expressed will of the people, any one of the Departments might have a policy of its own "to enforce against the will of the people." There must be unity in the Administration, or the President's promise becomes worthless. Hence we are unwilling to credit the statement telegraphed from Washington yesterday afternoon to the effect that notwithstanding General GRANT's declarations in favor of a reduction of fifty millions in taxation, his Secretary of the Treasury continues to counsel the Committee of Ways and Means against reduction. Mr. BOUTWELL had a policy of his own for the consideration of Congress, and that policy contemplated the continuance of the present oppressive taxation. That was before the country had expressed an opinion on the subject. It has spoken since in language which he who runs may understand. General GRANT has not misunderstood it. He has discovered that the will of the people is favorable to reduced taxation, and has wisely surrendered his previously-declared opinion in obedience to the popular demand. He pledged himself to that course, and he has fulfilled his pledge. It is incredible, then, that Mr. BOUTWELL still proposes to enforce his own views, not only against the will of the people, but also against the changed purpose of the President. We do not believe such a course possible. The President's sense of what is due to his position is a guarantee against it quite as strong as that which should be afforded by Mr. BOUTWELL's estimate of the fitness of things in official life.

Even the Tribune, in its Washington dispatches, admits that "the action of the Ways and Means Committee in resolving to reduce internal taxation $60,000,000, is hailed with great joy by members generally." The joy of members is shared by the country. There have been doubts and fears which this announcement is calculated to dispel. The requirement of the hour is relief from taxation—as much relief, at least, as is compatible with an economical administration of the Government and the fulfillment of its obligations to the national creditor. All branches of trade need this relief. The make of industry demand it. It is wanted above all things to stimulate vigor in enterprise long overburdened, and to break the clouds which are settling down upon commerce and labor in many of the States. The want so universally and so keenly felt has until now been disregarded by Congress. The Ways and Means Committee, instead of satisfying the want, prepared a Tariff that would actually add to the burdens and iniquities of the one in force. The influence of the Treasury was exerted in the same direction. Power seemed disposed to array itself against the people. A discontent began to show itself which boded no good to the Republican Party. The people felt that official theories were regarded more than their interests, and that a compliance was rendered to the wishes of organized monopoly which was denied to their righteous demands. Members generally realized this force and tendency of this feeling, and the more considerate among them favored large and timely concessions.

But the Treasury was against them. The Ways and Means Committee was against them. Every monopolist was against them. The whole army of lobbyists and intriguers were against them. At this critical stage the President stepped forward to their relief. He had read the signs of the times, and discovered whither popular feeling tended. Members of the Ways and Means Committee were affected by his influence, and—thanks to his intervention—the first decided step was taken towards reducing the taxes. We have the confession of the monopolists' organ that this change in the aspect of affairs was "hailed with great joy" in the Capitol. That joy was trivial compared with the satisfaction in which the country will express if the reform thus begun be carried forward promptly, boldly and justly. Mr. BOUTWELL, if a wise man, will strive to help rather than hinder its progress.

Sherman, Farragut, and the Staff Rank.

Admiral FARRAGUT has given his cordial adhesion to Mr. ROBESON's bill for staff rank—a bill which, it is understood, Vice-Admiral PORTER and the line in general approve; and now General SHERMAN's recent letter is cited to support the same bill.

It seems to us, however, that all those who have taken part with the line in the present dispute commit the error of confounding rank with command. If our readers will recall the letters on "Naval Discipline," addressed to the TIMES by a line officer, they will note that these letters take for granted that the two terms, "rank" and "command," are synonymous and interchangeable. The very noticeable articles in the Washington Chronicle, which also argues the line side of the question, assume this same premise. One of these articles, we remember, declared that it was "detrimental to discipline to give the staff high rank," that "a staff officer, having no command, can perform his duties as well without this rank as with it," and that it is "very injurious to discipline to so weaken the power and importance of the commanding officer." In like manner, the bills introduced by the line into Congress, regard this interdependence of rank and command as the key-point of the discussion. Such, also, it would seem to be from the evidence taken before the Naval Committees. And, in like manner, General SHERMAN says, in the letter we published yesterday:

> "I don't want to go to sea in any vessel with more than one Captain, or when in case of accident to him the rights and powers of his successor are not clearly prescribed by law or naval custom."

Here then we come to the pivotal point in this prolonged and bitter controversy. Is rank equivalent to command? And does it follow that in conferring higher rank on the staff than they now enjoy we must perforce give them actual control of any ship in which they may chance to outrank line officers? If these questions must be answered affirmatively, obviously the staff claim must be denied, as those officers never have received the training necessary to command a ship. But, on the other hand, if these questions can be answered negatively, it seems to us that the line argument falls to the ground, and the privilege asked for must be conceded.

Now, what are the facts in the case? In the army, as General SHERMAN tells us, "all our staff officers have actual rank. They hold commissions from the President as Generals, Colonels, Majors, Captains, &c." But does this possession of rank carry with it a command in the field? Not at all. An Article of War expressly provides as follows:

> "If, upon marches, guards, or in quarters, different corps of the army shall happen to join or do duty together, the officer highest in rank of the line of the army, marine corps, or militia, by commission, there on duty or in quarters, shall command the whole."

Will it be pretended that such an arrangement is not equally feasible in the navy? Cannot the very regulation which confers rank also divest the staff of command? It certainly can; and, in that case, the line argument vanishes.

Now, in actual practice, in our army, "so long as a line officer is present for duty, he must command." General SHERMAN tells us that it "frequently happens" that a Captain or Lieutenant commands forces in which are "Surgeons, Paymasters, Quartermasters, &c., with commissions of Colonel or Major, who must obey his orders." Now, why may not the same be true of a Captain or Lieutenant in the navy, who has Surgeons, Paymasters, Engineers, &c., under him, with commissions of Commander or Commodore? Why should this latter rank prevent them from obeying his orders?

General SHERMAN's letter, rightly interpreted, is not an argument for the line, but a very strong argument for the staff. He says: "If by conferring actual naval rank on the Surgeons, Paymasters, Engineers, &c., the power of the Captain, executive officer, (First Lieutenant,) or of the officer of the deck is diminished or made doubtful, I would consider the change very damaging to the service." But as he immediately shows by the army rule that this diminution of power need not occur, he robs his own hypothesis of all its force.

We repeat once more, that the staff claim is one that will bear the test of strict investigation; and it is therefore a great pity that, instead of combining themselves to strong public opinion, the advocates are off into unpatriotic tirades against the whole service.

Russian Brewing.

Some of our contemporaries are incredulous as to the sincerity of Democratic repentance wherever they meet with it. Their unbelief is too well warranted by past experience, but we doubt whether it is worth while to throw cold water on the efforts which a section of the Democrats appear to be inclined to make to inaugurate a new epoch in their party.

The truth is, that there are many causes in operation at present which would naturally lead Democrats who possess any foresight to get rid of corrupt Rings and a few Judges who bring the whole Judiciary into contempt. In the first place, the wrath of the public is thoroughly aroused against the cliques which support these iniquities. It would take very little more provocation to excite scenes in this City which are more familiar to residents of border towns than to us. The dishonest Judges, notwithstanding the efforts of disreputable hirelings, are at present sleeping over a powder magazine. It is the same with the "Ring" and all its auxiliaries. The public has endured much—once, indeed, it seemed impossible to arouse it. The corruptionists and defenders took advantage of this apathy and made sure that it would last forever. They are not convinced even now that they are in jeopardy. But all dispassionate persons can see it. They have heaped wrong after wrong on the most patient community in the world, and now they have nearly got to the end of their tether.

Another consideration which might lead thoughtful Democrats in the City to demand the purification of their party is this—the country Democracy are getting as indignant concerning New-York scandals as Republicans themselves. They see very plainly that their cause is injured in the estimation of the whole country by the finest City in the Union being handed over to anarchy, and by Judges being expressly put up, as the World truly intimates, to sell justice. The rural Democracy get no part of the spoils, but they are obliged to share in the general odium of these transactions. If the reputable Democrats here do not fight against the Ring, they will be themselves involved in the coming catastrophe. Nothing can save them. Purblind politicians may not see this, but all careful observers do.

No doubt there will be many attempts made to settle these differences "within the family." The adjournment of the Legislature holds out hope of this to the "Ring." We can quite understand that divisions such as we have lately seen alarm and distract the Democratic leaders. But even if they hit upon a compromise at this moment, it will not stand very long. The abuses which have made our City a by-word and a reproach, will not be tolerated for any length of time by the people. We care very little for the motives of the Democrats who are crying out for reforms. We know that they are in the right in their demands, and we hope they will go on in their present course. But if they do not, it will be all the same in the end. The great object we have had in view will be achieved. There will be an efficient Government in the City instead of a huge system of fraud. Criminals will no longer be sheltered under the robe of justice. Whole legions of greedy mercenaries will not be able to avert retribution from the heads of false Judges. We believe in the approach of that time, and we should be quite willing for the World to hasten its coming. But if the World proved faithless to its present professions, so much the worse for it—eternal justice would be vindicated just the same, as surely as the light follows darkness.

What the Bar Association Can Do.

The Bar Association, of which we have more than once spoken, is at last fairly organized, and has worthily begun its operations by offering a reward of $5,000 for the conviction of the person who attempted the assassination the other night of Mr. D. B. EATON, this shocking outrage having, there is little doubt, been perpetrated in revenge for the faithful discharge by Mr. EATON of professional duties. It is something to know in these times, that a faithful and honorable advocate has an organization at his back on whose sympathy and support he can rely in circumstances of difficulty or peril. One hears, of course, plenty of expressions of doubt about the amount of good the Association will be able to accomplish, and plenty, too, of expressions of hostility to it. The number of men in all callings and professions nowadays, who are firmly satisfied that the first and only duty of men is to make money, and that anybody who attempts anything in the way of reform likely to excite hostility or opposition in any quarter, is a fool for his pains, is alarmingly large; but it is not large enough to make us despair.

It is said that it is folly to suppose the new Association can at once get the control of the Bench and Bar, and purity them; but then, nobody does suppose it. Things have gone too far in their downward course, both with Bench and Bar, for recovery to be possible either in a year, or two, or even ten. The moral sentiment which keeps or makes either of them pure, has been seriously blunted by long familiarity with rascality. But, if we are to see a reformation at all, it must have a beginning, and it is nothing against it that its beginning must be small. That it is said, or will be said, against the new organization, that it is "aristocratic" or "oligarchic" in its nature, need excite no surprise. There is probably no cry which the knaves of the community have found so painful and so potential as this one. By a most dexterous perversion of the cardinal doctrine of democracy, and cunning appeals to that passion for equality which is now found in nearly every man's breast, they have managed to involve in almost the same discredit both moral and social distinctions. That is, they have succeeded in making it seem almost as odious to exclude a man from your company because he stole a coat, as because he wears a badly-made one, because he robbed a till, as because his manners are rough. Now, they have pushed their conceits so far as to make it seem in the eyes of large numbers of persons a violation of natural justice to exact knowledge of his calling from either lawyer or doctor, or indeed to deny any human being anything whatever which he would like to get on the ground either of the state of his heart or of his head. The result has been that the very best men have been cowed into pretending to believe a thief as good as an honest man, an ignoramus as good as a scholar, and into treating all attempts to draw lines as among the worst of social offences. From this state of feeling, of course, the Bar has suffered more than most other professions; but all have suffered. In attempting to bring about a change, the first thing to be done is to make distinctions, and this is sure to raise a howl.

Moreover, no such movement as is now in progress can be begun except by a few men. To attempt to enlist the majority of the Bar in it at the outset would have insured its ruin. It would have gone the way of so many other reform associations, by passing into the hands of the very men whose morals it was intended to mend. It will be for the present members of the Association to see that it is conducted in a liberal and tolerant spirit, with the largest indulgence for everything but ignorance and rascality. It ought above all things to open wide its arms to the young and unknown lawyers, who are now crowding into this City from all parts of the Union.

It ought to furnish a club, or something in the nature of a club, in which they can meet on common ground the seniors of the profession, with whom they now have no means of intercourse whatever, and thus have the sentiment of professional honor and professional brotherhood kept alive and fortified, both by the example and society of the older and better-known men. No wonder the knaves thrive, when a young lawyer beginning to practice in this City knows and feels that he is no more to Mr. EVARTS or Mr. O'CONOR than if he kept a thread and needle store in Third-avenue.

Now, what else can the Association do to restore public confidence in the profession? It can, first of all, do what the State and the Courts refuse to do—furnish the public with a guarantee that its members are honorable men, and have an adequate knowledge of the law. Let it admit nobody who has not been in practice for a certain number of years without submitting him to a rigid examination—not a farce, like the examinations of the Supreme Court, but a real test both of ability and industry. This alone would make it an object with young lawyers to be doing to it, and, coupled with strict requirements as to character, would furnish the clients with strong inducements, which would in a few years become almost imperative, to employ only its members, and would gradually make a man's not belonging to it an unfavorable presumption. Next let it exercise some kind of discipline over its members, by drawing up something like the medical "Code of Ethics," which, for instance, would make it impossible for a reputable lawyer to leave a widow only $3,000 out of a claim of $25,000, as happened the other day, or accept general retainers from notorious scoundrels in corrupt relations with Judges, or lie in Court, or steal papers, or conduct fraudulent suits, divorce or other. But what we want in this matter is not so much great stringency in the rules at the outset, as rigid enforcement of such rules as there are; and in enforcing these rules, to make them of any value, the burden of proof should lie on the party accused. If the Association never moves on mere rumor or suspicion, but waits till charges against its members are proved in black or white, it will soon be a den of thieves.

Next it ought to discuss and utter opinions publicly, from time to time, on all questions connected with the administration of justice, so as to furnish a guide and corrective to popular sentiment, but it ought to avoid general politics. People ought to learn from it what the condition of the Bench is, what are the defects of procedure, what difficulties will attend the enforcement of any particular measure, and what laws need for practical purposes to be amended or repealed. At present nothing can surpass the ignorance and blindness of the public on all these subjects, except the ignorance and blindness of legislators.

If the Association will perform these functions faithfully and well for a few years, we feel sure it will create and foster a public opinion which will put an end to the awful state of things we now witness, and will at once give New-York a Bar which we can point to with pride, and rely on with confidence in great emergencies. No lawyers have ever had a more serious or nobler task thrust upon them. The very foundations of society are menaced in this City, and it is only from the Bar that deliverance can come, and what the Bar needs is that courage and public spirit which have in all periods of the history of the profession been its boast and glory.

We have a proof as convincing as it is gratifying that Mr. GLADSTONE's Irish Land bill is a measure dictated by sound and practical statesmanship, and adapted to the complicated necessities of a deeply-wronged people. The announcement by telegraph that the Irish members of the House of Commons are united in support of the measure speaks volumes for its thoroughness, and is the one thing necessary to secure its success.

The tidings of the check just given to ESPINEDO BY TOLEDO and MARTINEZ are the most important that have come from Mexico for many months. If true to the extent reported by the Havana telegram, they portend a general insurrection, and quite possibly the downfall of JUAREZ. For it must be remembered, that not only is ESPINEDO one of the oldest of Mexican Generals, but that he heads nearly all the available national forces. He has recently been largely reinforced, and he telegraphed at last accounts to JUAREZ that his situation was "reassuring." Now is it, if now, commanded, he has been forced to retreat from San Luis Potosi to San Felipe and thence to Guanajuato? With these events occurring here, and Juarez in arms, Michoacan insurrectionary, and the Government troops dispersed, the long impending storm seems at last to have broken.

Another "horrible boiler explosion" has occurred in St. Louis, with a long list of maimed and mangled. Way is it, we often wonder, that philanthropists who form societies to protest against capital punishment, Indian wars, and other localized modes of taking away human life, never propose to combine against the boiler-bursting business, which robs the community of ten times as many useful lives every year as all our Indian wars? Every boiler explosion without exception, and hundreds could be cited, is the result largely of carelessness or ignorance. Cheap material or makeshift construction at the outset, delay in making repairs, or the employment of improper workmen, account for all such slaughters, and the Coroner's verdict, if just, needs only to choose, though with sound-about phrases, between two causes—cupidity or stupidity. It is never true that there is "no body to blame."

The earthquake which has been so long talked of in California, has at length visited San Francisco. Happily, though the shock was great enough to cause a "general panic," and was felt at Sacramento, Santa Cruz and San José, and though "several ladies fainted," yet not a life was lost, and not a building destroyed or even damaged. Come! that is a very gentle and polite earthquake. He rears you as gently as it were a sucking dove. But seriously, since nothing has been more watched for in California since the October shock, it is a satisfaction that the second shock has now come and gone so cheaply. The ladies that fainted have recovered, we warrant; the "school-misses that created a panic" have resumed their books and their deportment, and, elegant or, it is an annoying and, possibly, a terrible danger happily over for the present.

It is consoling to find that Mr. GEORGE W. MCLEAN, the Street Commissioner, considers the Fisk pavement in Fifth-avenue the "very worst street pavement ever made." Why was it ever laid down? Upon that point there is still some mystery. The Mayor appears to have honestly believed that it was a good pavement. He is doubtless fully undeceived now, in common with the rest of the town. A contemporary has stated, with some appearance of plausibility, that the failure of the pavement in Fifth-avenue is not the fault of the invention, "but of the swindling execution of the contract." Who were the contractors? Into whose pockets has the larger part of the plunder gone? Above all, what security can the public obtain against the repetition of so outrageous a fraud? Those are the questions which we should like to have answered, and we hope Democratic reformers will assist us to gain the information.

A correspondent having gravely recommended the teaching of Irish in our public schools, we may as gravely observe that it would never do, that it is not suited to the practical needs of the present age, that it is a dead language—so dead that even the Fenians, if they got Ireland back, would not think of using it, but go on with the English. The Irish, like those monumental tongues, the Hebrew, the Sanscrit and others, is a language for scholars and antiquarians only, differing in this respect from the German, which has a large and living literature, and also from the Spanish, which is for us a still more important speech, since it is nationally spoken in so many parts of the new hemisphere with which we are destined to have much to do in the way of business.

That a city should be supplied with good markets and plenty of them, is self-evident. But that they should be made the occasion of creating fat offices for politicians is quite another affair. The bill for the erection of a new market in the Thirteenth Ward appears to bear this latter complexion. Why should three Commissioners be necessary, and why should they be paid $10,000 a year each? Why, further, is there to be no limit either to the number of their clerks, or the cost of the building? It is all very well for the gentlemen whom it is proposed to gratify by this pleasant arrangement, but the taxpayers of our City will certainly be aggrieved. There are limits even to their patience, as the advocates of the bill may discover. At all events, let us have reasons and facts. Let the movers in the scheme be known, and whether the Thirteenth Ward has had any voice in the matter.

With the prolonged mildness of Winter, with the sun climbing high, and March near at hand, the ice harvest begins in some quarters to excite interest. The interest, however, is less with ice-dealers than with ice-buyers, who believe that the former will this year make up decrease in sales by increase in price, and thus force the whole burden of slack business on the customer. The meeting of the New-York hotel keepers on Thursday evening, at the St. Nicholas, was directed simply to resisting the scale of prices announced by the ice companies for the season; and we are sure that housekeepers and the public in general will support this move of the hotel-keepers. It was there declared that the ice companies were, despite their various names, a giant monopoly, controlled by one organization, which made from thirty to fifty per cent. profit; and a new company was thereupon formed pledged not to set its profits above a dollar a ton. Meanwhile, with the two other devices—direct importation, and the new "artificial ice"—we need not be in haste to submit to extortion.

A few nights ago a man was knocked down by "rowdies" while going home. Injuries of such a nature were inflicted upon him that he died. No inquiry was made into the case by the Police, because at first it was not supposed that the victim was in any danger; and when his death occurred it was too late. Perhaps that was a good reason to give in this particular case, but the same representations will not apply to the outrage committed last Saturday night in Fifth-avenue. The Police have had full information about that. They cannot fail to see suspicious circumstances in the audacious attempt which has been made, as the Herald well says, to "belittle the injury" done to Mr. EATON. Now, has Superintendent KENNEDY, or any of his subordinates, made any move in this matter? Does he mean to "let it drag," or to persevere in the endeavor to bring the authors of the crime to justice?

We are once more constrained to call attention to the sort of work which Recorder HACKETT has been doing this week. The public would be ungrateful in one of the friends it has in the City Judiciary if it overlooked the Recorder's efforts to break up the gangs of criminals who have been attracted to our City by the belief that they will be allowed to commit any crimes with impunity. In one instance a burglar was sent to prison for ten years; another got five years for the same offence. A young colored JAMES WEBB was found guilty of attempting to stab a woman. He was drunk at the time. According to some modern books, drunkenness is a sufficient excuse for any crime. Give the drunkard a raving constitution to kill and plunder whenever he likes. Recorder HACKETT happens to hold different views. "His Honor in passing sentence said that intoxication was no excuse for crime, and that it was his duty to teach the community that such wicked and daring assaults would not be tolerated for a moment. WEBB was sent to the State Prison for ten years, that being the most severe penalty that the Court could impose." Well done the Recorder! We only wish he could have all criminal cases to dispose of. His hands would be pretty full at first, but in a year or two the City would be cleansed by thieves and murderers as if the plague raged in it.

AMUSEMENTS.

Musical.

THE OPERA MATINEE.

"Rigoletto," so admirably sung at the Academy of Music on Monday, is to be performed there at the matinée to-day. Signors BONCONI and LEFRANC, and Miss KELLOGG appear together in VERDI's very dramatic work.

PHILHARMONIC REHEARSAL.

The first rehearsal for the fourth concert of the Philharmonic Society, took place at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon. Thanks to the weather, it was possible to obtain a seat during the performance of the following programme:

Part 1.—Overture, "Magic Flute," MOZART. Quintette, flute, oboe, clarionet, bassoon, horn, obligato, RIFFE. Recitative and Aria, "Dove Sono," MOZART, with orchestral accompaniment, Mrs. EMILY DAVISON. Concerto, for the violoncelli and orchestra, GOLTERMANN; andante, finale, Herr FRIEDRICH BERGNER. Overture, "Genoveva," SCHUMANN.

Part 2.—Symphony, No. 5, in C minor, op. 67, BEETHOVEN—1. Allegro con brio. 2. Andante con moto. 3. Allegro. 4. Allegro Presto.

The overture to the "Magic Flute" is always welcome. The introduction of a quintette while rather an innovation on the usual programme, is certainly one worthy of encouragement. It is full of beauties, and was heartily appreciated. Mrs. DAVISON has a clear and pleasant voice and sang with good expression and with energy. The overture to "Genoveva" by SCHUMANN is new. It was first produced in 1847, and unfortunately, proved a failure. Whether it will be more successful now can be better recorded when its rendering is perfected. It bears evidence of the unsettled state of mind of the composer at the time of writing it. BEETHOVEN's symphony has been considered his masterpiece, and the life which he infused into the symphonic form, perfected by BACH and MOZART, is revealed in each of the movements. The first and last are especially fine and energetic. The programme, it will be seen, is an exceptionally good one.

PLYMOUTH ORGAN CONCERT.

Dr. CLARE W. BEAMES, organist, and Miss MARIA BRAINERD, soprano, will perform at the concert this afternoon.

THE FRENCH DRAMA.

The usual dramatic entertainment at the Theatre Français, solicits notice to-night. M. WERTHEIMER's artists are to interpret a travesty of the poem of "Faust," MM. EDGARD, DUCHESNE and JUCHET filling the leading parts. The work is said to be very amusing. It could have no more cheerful expounders than these three excellent comedians.

THETA DELTA CHI.

A grand reunion dinner of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity took place at the Astor House last evening. About seventy-five persons were at the table. The arrangements were excellent, and reflected credit upon those who were immediately concerned in attending to them. The music was furnished by DODWORTH's band. During the literary proceedings the occasion was graced by the presence of a large number of ladies. The dinner was presided over by Mr. P. C. GILBERT, Chairman of the Grand Lodge, who, after the removal of the cloth, introduced the poet of the evening, Mr. J. H. EGON.

The poem was received with applause, and at the end of the reading the Chairman introduced the orator, Mr. WILLIAM D. STONE, of the College Review, who delivered an able and scholarly address containing reminiscences of departed members of the Society, and a glowing tribute to the character and worth of Hon. S. D. MORRIS, District-Attorney of Kings County, who, while surrounded with the corruption of Corporation Rings, still were the ermine unsullied, without even a stain upon its dazzling whiteness. Fitting allusions were also made to other distinguished members of the Society, including General BURGHMAN, who had charge of the treasures and archives of the Southern Confederacy at the time of the collapse.

The first regular toast of the evening, "Our Society," was responded to by Mr. POTTS.

The second toast, "To the Bench," was responded to by Hon. S. D. MORRIS, District-Attorney of Kings County. He was a timorous soul, he said, to say anything about the Bench, lest he should be adjudged guilty of a contempt of Court. He had come so near the jail for this offence within the past week or two that he had become extremely cautious on the subject. He would, however, venture to express his views with much freedom. The Bench had been founded and maintained as the conservative branch of the Government, and was supposed to be above the influence of party feeling and of personal animosity. In general he believed it maintained this high position, but in some instances in this State, and especially at this end of the State, it was controlled by even worse influences than these. This was a deplorable state of things, for as soon as the people lost their confidence in the Judiciary, a widespread feeling of insecurity prevailed in the community. We have not reached that point, and it has been the result mainly of the mode in which our Judges are selected. They are too near the people and too near the ballot box. Time was when the Judiciary of this State was known and respected all over the country, but that was when the Bench was graced by such men as WALWORTH, and KENT, and SPENCER. There are still many noble examples to be found among our Judges, but there are also men who are recreant to the duties of their high station. Much of the blame for this state of things attaches to the members of the legal profession. They have not been sufficiently high in their aims, and have too far forgotten the true nobility of their profession in the race for money getting. But there is now a movement on foot among the members of the Bar in New-York which cannot fail to contribute to its elevation and redemption from its present degradation. The people, too, have become aroused, and are turning their attention to their own interests in this matter, and they will compel the Judges to discharge their duties without regard to party predilections or personal feelings. This conservative branch of the Government must be restored to its purity and its integrity, and no man should be intimidated by Judges

ALBANY.

Paying the Ante-War Debt in Gold—A Bulletin to the Governor—Passage of the Special Sessions Bill—A Recess—Abolishing the Commissions.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Friday, Feb. 18, 1870.

Mr. JACOBS, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, offered a resolution, at the opening of the session, this morning, directing the Comptroller to hereafter pay the ante-war debt of the State, principal and interest, in coin. Mr. SIGSBEE offered an amendment, in the form of a preamble to the resolution, setting forth, that whereas the decision of the United States Supreme Court makes it obligatory upon the State to pay the debt in coin, therefore, resolved that the Comptroller be directed, &c. Mr. JACOBS opposed the amendment on the ground that the State was bound in honor to pay this debt in coin, independently of any decision of the Supreme Court imposing an obligation to do so. Mr. LITTLEJOHN supported the amendment on the ground that if such an explanatory clause were not attached to the resolution, the Legislature would be flooded with claims for the payment of the difference between coin and greenbacks on that portion of the debt already paid when gold was 200 per cent above par. He intimated that many such claims had been purchased by speculators for a mere nominal sum, with the design of making a fortune out of the State Treasury; and that the principle of the original resolution, if carried out without the explanatory clause contained in the preamble, would compel the State to pay the claims. A motion was made to lay the whole subject on the table, which was carried by a vote of 65 to 54—all the Republicans present, and a few Democrats, voting in the affirmative. It is said that JACOBS' resolution came direct from the Governor, and was written by his private Secretary, and the disposal made of it is regarded as a mortifying defeat not only to him, but to the Committee of Ways and Means. Subsequently a motion was made by Mr. ALVORD to take the resolution from the table—the majority of the Committee having agreed to accept the preamble of the minority. The motion prevailed, and the resolution with the preamble annexed was adopted by a vote of 85 to 20—the nays this time being all Democrats.

THE SPECIAL SESSIONS BILL.

Colonel MURPHY's bill to reorganize the Court of Special Sessions so as to allow all the Police Justices to take their turn on the bench of the Court, passed to-day by a vote of 95 to 5, the Speakers, Mr. BROWN and Mr. BURNS being the only New-Yorkers voting in the negative.

THE RECESS.

The Assembly concurred in the resolution of the Senate to take a recess until Wednesday next. During the recess the Committee of Ways and Means, consisting of Messrs. Jacobs, Selkreg, Bunker, Bergen, Husted, Littlejohn, Coon, Dodge and W. D. Murphy, will visit the Quarantine Grounds and the new structures at West Bank to examine into their condition.

ABOLISHING THE COMMISSIONS.

The Democracy do not appear to be making any headway on their new charter for New-York, and it looks as though the local Government of that City would have to remain un-"reorganized" for some time to come. They are in hopes that they will be able to "fix up things" and come to some agreement during the recess next week, but the prospect looks dubious. On a half of the session has now passed and the great object for which they came together, and to which they have been looking forward with such longing during the years of their minority, is not attained. The "Commissions" are not yet "abolished," and Radical rule still spurns that "self-government" for which the people of New-York are so eagerly panting. But if the Democracy have done nothing to "abolish the Commissions," they have not refrained day or night from resolving to do something. With all their quarrels as to how the local government of New-York shall be "reorganized," they are a unit in resolving that the "Commissions must and shall be abolished." Not a week has passed since the session commenced without one or more resolutions being offered and adopted in both Houses that the Commissions "ought to be abolished," or that they "shall be abolished," or that the "Democracy is pledged to abolish them." They have "resolved" it in party caucus and in private conference; in the Senate and in the Assembly; on the street and in the railroad car; at all times and in all places; in season and out of season. It is getting to be the sole plank in the Democratic platform, and is the most lengthable joke of the season. The proprietor of one of the Albany theatres thinks of getting up a farce entitled, "Abolishing the Commissions." Within the past week the New-York and Brooklyn delegations have organized themselves into an association, or rather two associations, for the purpose of meeting together once a day and swearing to "abolish the Commissions." The New-York delegation meet every morning after breakfast, in the parlor of Grand Sachem TWEED, at the Delavan House, and swear with uplifted hands, and by the Holy St. Tammany, to "abolish the Commissions." Occasionally one of the delegation will have the impertinence to ask the Grand Sachem what he intends to do after the Commissions are abolished; but the only answer he gets is: "Never you mind about that; you just do your duty and swear." Before PETER MITCHELL swears, he always asks the Grand Sachem "if he is going to pass his Gas bill;" BERGEN inquires if anything is to be done for the "laboring man;" TIM CAMPBELL wants to know whether he will ever be "Clerk to the Board of Police Justices;" MACHTRAM insists upon having gates erected at the Brooklyn ferries, which he never crosses; OWEN MURPHY wants to know who is going to be the next Comptroller; Colonel M. C. MURPHY always asks before taking the oath whether the rank and file of the National Guard will all wear epaulettes after the Commissions are abolished; and KIERNAN invariably delays the ceremony an hour or more by delivering an oration, after the style of DEMOSTHENES. After the swearing and the questioning and the speechifying is all through, which generally takes till about 10:30 o'clock, the delegation form in line, two abreast, and march up State-street to the Capitol. The ceremony of the Brooklyn delegation in swearing to "abolish the Commissions" is somewhat different from the above. Indeed it is remarked that the Brooklyn delegation do not affiliate very closely with the New-Yorkers this Winter. They stand on their dignity, and only consort with the Tammany boys occasionally for a game of "draw poker." S.

ASSEMBLY.

THE ANTE-WAR DEBT OF THE STATE.

Mr. JACOBS, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported the following:

Resolved, if the Senate concur, That the principal and interest of the State debt, other than that known as the Bounty Loan debt, except such parts as are held by the Comptroller or the Commissioners of the Canal Fund in trust under the laws of the State, be paid at the same sources and in the same form in specie, and then the Comptroller and the Commissioners of the Canal Fund respectively, from time to time purchase the coin necessary to enable them to comply with this instruction.

Mr. BISSELL, from the minority of the Committee, reported the following preamble, to precede the Resolution offered by Mr. JACOBS:

Whereas, by a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, all Bolivian, including those of green of the Legislature not yet payable in coin; therefore, Resolved, &c.

Mr. JACOBS said that a majority of the Ways and Means Committee wanted it understood that the State was willing to do an act of justice without regard to the decision referred to. He therefore opposed the amendment.

Mr. LITTLEJOHN said the minority wanted the preamble adopted for the reason that the party to which he belonged had already, while in power, refused to pay any of this debt in coin. Now, after the decision referred to it was proper to give a pleasant excuse for this change. He was in favor of paying the debt now in coin. He claimed that the settlement of this question should stand upon the decision of the Court, to protect the State against the thousands of claims which will come pouring in if the resolution is adopted without the preamble.

Mr. MOSELY moved to lay the resolution on the table, as he believed the House was not prepared to vote on it. The motion was carried by 65 to 54.

Mr. ALVORD, at a later stage, moved to take the vote from the table.

Mr. JACOBS stated that the Committee was willing to accept the preamble, as it did not affect the resolution at all, and it was necessary to adopt this resolution before the recess.

The preamble was then adopted, as also the resolution, by a vote of 85 to 20.

OBITUARY.

Colonel George E. Farmer.

GEORGE EDGAR FARMER, Commander of Post Phil. Kearney No. 6, G. A. R., and late Lieutenant-Colonel Sixth New-York Veteran Cavalry, a widely known and esteemed citizen of this City died on the evening of the 16th inst. at his residence No. 129 East Twenty-sixth-street. Colonel FARMER was born in this City in 1840, and was the son of Mr. GEORGE FARMER, well known in financial circles. He entered upon mercantile pursuits early in life, but upon the breaking out of the rebellion at once gave up his business, and early in 1861, upon the organization of the famous Sixth New-York Cavalry, was commissioned Second Lieutenant in that regiment. He served with distinction till the close of the war, since which time he has occupied a responsible position in the Bowery Savings Bank. His loss is deeply felt by a large circle of friends, including the Masonic fraternity, of which he was a member.

ANOTHER DISASTROUS FIRE

The fifth of the great fires which have visited this City since the advent of the new year occurred last evening, at Nos. 246 and 248 Cherry-street. This double building, six stories in height, owned by ALANSON J. BRIGGS, was occupied by JOHN FITZGERALD as a rice and feed mill. He had it stored with machinery valued at $60,000, but fortunately only had on hand about $10,000 worth of stock. Upon one side of this vast structure was a huge tenement house of equal height, and on the other a two-story brick stable, Nos. 250 and 252, also owned by Mr. Briggs.

At 6:37 o'clock some residents of the neighborhood noticed what some thought to be smoke issuing from the second-story windows of the rice mill, but the night was so extremely foggy that those who noticed it at all finally concluded that it was steam or fog, and paid no further attention to it. At last, about 7 o'clock, flames burst from the windows, and it was not until then that the presence of the fire was known and the alarm given. The engines promptly arrived and were efficiently worked under the supervision of Chief PERLEY and District Engineer REYNOLDS, the latter of whom was especially zealous, but the flames were under such headway that they could not be extinguished. Finally gained ground, however, so slowly, that it was not until 8 o'clock that a second alarm was sounded and additional engines called. At this hour the flames enveloped the entire building, and the scene was one of terror and confusion. The rain was falling in torrents, but fell unheeded upon the multitudes gathered as near to the conflagration as the Police would allow. These latter, were from the Seventh, Fourth, Tenth and Thirteenth Precincts, under command of Captain WARLOW and Sergeants from the different commands. They had a difficult task in preserving the peace, but no more difficult in quieting and comforting the hundreds of inmates of the tenement house that adjoined the mass of fire. The adult inhabitants rushed in scores from this, leaving their property and children behind them, and crowded the street howling for both. The Police finally quieted the mob by forcing all the little ones from the building, which proved in the end to be an unnecessary precaution, as the tenement house was not reached by the fire at all and was but slightly damaged by water.

But the flames meantime had eaten up the rice mill; at 9 o'clock the walls began falling and all except that next the tenement house toppled over. That next the stable fell over in one great mass upon that building crushing it entirely to the ground. The contents had been previously removed. The building is an almost total wreck and the loss on it $20,000. The rice mill being also completely destroyed, and being valued at $40,000, the loss of Mr. Briggs will reach $65,000, upon which he had full insurance. The loss of Mr. FITZGERALD on stock and machinery will reach $70,000, on which he has only $28,000 insurance. Nothing definite has yet been learned as to the origin of the disaster, but an investigation is in progress.

German Republican Central Committee.

The German Republican Central Committee of this City held their regular monthly meeting at the Steuben House last night, General FRANZ SIGEL presiding, when the Standing Committees of their Executive Committee were appointed. The officers of the Executive Committee are: WILLIAM GRASSE, President; CHARLES SCHWEDLER, Vice-President; ERNEST A. KLIMES, Secretary. And the Standing Committees are as follows: Committee on Finance—Morris Friedmann, Morris E. Unger, Andrew Willmann, Dr. Louis Naumann, Charles Schweder; Committee on Correspondence—Captain Beyland, Jacob Schoenhof, Dr. Hartwig Gercke, William Gellman, Gustavus Beyerle; Committee on Printing—William Weber, Wilham Steinhaner, Reinhard Riehl.

Another Suit Against Erie.

An application was made for another capias against the Erie Railway Company, in the Clerk's office of the United States Circuit Court, yesterday. The application was made on the ground that the Company has failed to perform certain agreements made with GEORGE W. HAYNE, an alien. The amount sought to be recovered by the plaintiff is $4,000. The capias is made returnable on the 22d inst.

English Publications.

There is now no bookseller's store in London or Paris which has so large and varied a collection of periodicals and newspapers as Mr. BRENTANO can boast of. The last mails have given him an endless stock. The Fortnightly Review, containing a new poem by ALGERNON SWINBURNE, the Argosy and St. Paul's are among the newest magazine arrivals. With St. Paul's is given away the monthly parts of a new story by TROLLOPE, called "Ralph the Heir." Mr. BRENTANO has also on sale the Graphic, No. 15, (an admirable number,) the Illustrated London News, the Saturday Review, Punch, and Nature.

A Pound Upon Shoemakers.

It has become a custom with a few unscrupulous Grocers to distribute their circulars from the line of FELT'S "O. K." Soap by very unjust representations. The source of this prejudice is pertinent, viz.: FELT'S "O. K." is as stable as sugar or flour and retails at very small profit. Hence the desire to work off cheaper productions, stuffed with every kind of adulteration, that will make weight without immediate detection by the unsuspecting consumer. When consumers fail in obtaining a supply from the proper source they have only to apply by mail or in person to the Depot No. 320 Washington-street, and secure a box; dry, hard and economical.—Advertisement.

The Ladies' Sociable Club of New-York recently changed their discussions from women's suffrage to Hair Preparations and Pimple Banishers. They declared that where nature had not endowed them with beauty, it was their right—yea, their duty—to seek it where they could. So they all voted that MAGNOLIA BALM overcame Sallowness, Rough Skin and Ringworm, and gave to the complexion a most distinguished (foreign) and marble-like appearance, (dangerous to men, no doubt;) and that LYON'S KATHAIRON made the Hair grow thick, soft and awful pretty, and moreover prevented it from turning gray. If the proprietors of these articles did not send the sisters an invoice, they are not smart.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.—This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world. Harmless, reliable, instantaneous. Does not contain lead nor nitrate of silver to produce paralysis and death. Sold by all druggists. Applied at No. 16 Bond-st., New-York.

MISCELLANEOUS.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 Nassau-st., New-York,

FEB. 18, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, and the popularity and credit which these Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely-located and honestly-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable public service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great national works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special satisfaction the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, FORMS THE ADDITIONAL EAST AND WEST TRUNK LINE, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other.

THE IMPORTANCE OF THIS ROAD AS A NEW OUTLET FROM THE WEST TO THE SEA magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its successful value, and Render it the Most Important and Substantial Railroad Enterprise now in Progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and cooperation of prominent capitalists and railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio River, at or near the mouth of the Big Sandy River, 120 miles above Cincinnati and 350 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the Entire Railroad Systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchise and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country;

And there Exists a Present Value, in Completed Road and Work Done, Equal to the Entire Amount of the Mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference of the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless reassigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and canceled, the Bond made a PERMANENT REGISTERED BOND, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only to the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes of BONDS will be known respectively as:

1. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."
2. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."
3. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached,"

They have THIRTY YEARS to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent. per annum from Nov. 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in May and November, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Eleven-twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest accrue at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a Mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A Sinking Fund of $100,000

PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $6,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the VIRGINIA CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $9,000,000 a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the Road to the Ohio River, put out and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and entire equipment.

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded, and on certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the markets, both of this country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,

F

The Boats Are Rolled and Kills Her Captain, Chief Engineer and Four Men.

From the Memphis (Tenn.) Appeal, Feb. 12.

Telegraphic dispatches received in the city yesterday afternoon, announced the fact that the steamer Maggie Hayes, of Pittsburg, Captain R. C. MARTIN, master, had exploded a boiler, and after being turned to the north side, near Island, No. 66, below Helena. On the arrival of the steamer Commercial, of the White River trade, last evening about 8 o'clock, we went on board and found the survivors of the ill-fated steamer.

Mr. HAMLIN, the pilot on watch, makes the following statement: We left New-Orleans on Tuesday, the 31 inst., arriving, after various delays, at the foot of Island No. 63 on Thursday. Something was the matter with the boiler, and the first engineer, Mr. FLEMING, went to Memphis to get tools to repair it, leaving the second engineer, Mr. MCDERMOTT, in charge. We left our landing about 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, towing a barge, and started up the chute of Island No. 63. About half an hour after we had been under way, the explosion occurred. I do not know what caused it. Captain MARTIN was sitting forward in the shears, and all at once with a tremendous sound the texas and forward part of the hurricane deck was blown away. I saw bricks and other things of the boiler going up in the air, and the machinery immediately commenced to lurboard, as did the pilot house, where we were. The first person whom I saw was Mrs. DURAN, daughter of Captain RENAU, of Pittsburg, and sister of the second clerk, who was sitting in the office at the time of the explosion, and who, for aught I know not how. She came to the pilot house where we, myself and partner, Mr. JONES, were, and asked us what she should do. I told her to sit down and be calm, while I tried to get the boat ashore. Mrs. SEYDAM, sister-in-law of Mrs. DURAN, (both of whom, with several others, were on a pleasure trip with us,) came up immediately—both of them blackened with the explosion. Both sat down as we told them, and I tried to get the boat's head ashore. It was lucky we were not in the stream. The boat had not caught fire yet, although we could see plenty of fire among the wreck. She swung around towards shore, and the barge, which we were towing, touched the bank. There was no way to make it fast, however, and leaving the wheel, I cut the guy ropes of the chimney, and knotting them, threw them ashore. Mr. JONES, my partner, ran out and made the end fast. Meanwhile I saw the boat taking fire forward, and I sent Mrs. DURAN and Mrs. SEYDAM to land put them under the charge of the mate, Mr. ANDY WILSON, who took them down the after stairway and put them on the barge, where the other passengers had, most of them, already congregated. In a short time the guy rope that I had thrown out broke, but the mate got out a hawser and made fast. The crew, I must say, were doing everything in their power to suppress the flames, but soon found their attempts without avail. The Captain had been found shortly after the explosion, standing forward by the engineer, perfectly black, and burned so that no one could have recognized him. He recognized the mate, however, and asked him what had happened. He was taken on the barge, and carried ashore. We had made shore at the landing of R. S. OLIVER, who immediately commenced doing all he could for the relief of his life threatened, and in it. The second engineer, Mr. MCDERMOTT, was hunted for and found. He was still alive, and though horribly burned and scalded, was perfectly sensible. He was able to talk, and said he was standing just at of the boiler that blew up (the latter, he said, one) He was carried ashore, and though everything that could be was done for him, he died in the course of two hours and a half, perfectly conscious to the last. The Hayes was burning meanwhile, and burned down to the water's edge. On calling the roll after the fire, we found that we could do so, we found that besides the captain and engineer, there were four hands missing, all negroes. One was named JAS. MUNROE, a fireman from New-Orleans; the other three were roustabouts, named TOM WALKER and DAN SKINNER, from Belleair, and JOHN HARRIS, from Pittsburg. Mr. R. S. OLIVER (the generous) in the world that humanity could dictate to relieve the wants and the sufferings of all the survivors. Not a passenger was injured. The second clerk was sick; he tried to get to the office, but could not. He says when the explosion occurred the office was full of office furniture were blown over board. The first-mate left the boat at New-Orleans to settle up some of her business, and took the railroad up to Memphis, where he was to join us. About 5 o'clock the steamer Commercial came along and took us off. She stayed alongside an hour and a half or two hours, and took us all aboard. Captain MARTIN lingered a short time, and died before we got to Helena. We left his remains there.

From the Chicago Tribune, Feb. 16.

A driver of a mail wagon, who had been purloining letters on an extensive scale for some time, was arrested yesterday, and is now in jail. During the past three months Postmaster EASTMAN has received a great many communications from persons in different parts of the country, complaining that letters containing drafts for money, addressed to them, had not come to hand, and suggesting that some one in the Post Office must know something about them. One of these complaints was made by the Cashier of a bank in Ottawa, Illinois, who wrote to the Commercial National Bank of Chicago, had enclosed a draft for $24,000 about two months ago, and that it had not been received up to that time—about a month ago. The other complaints were made by firms to whom drafts for large and small sums had been sent by parties in city indebted to them, and not received. The aggregate amount represented in the drafts missing was over $100,000.

Mr. EASTMAN at once set to work to find out who was the guilty party, and Special Agent MILLER assisted him. The only clew they had was that nearly every one of the letters had been taken from the mail pouch sent by way of the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad. Mr. MILLER, from what he learned, suspected WM. JONES, the driver who takes the bags to the Rock Island depot for the 10 o'clock evening train, and determined to watch him closely. Accordingly on the night of last week, the following of JONES after he left the Post Office with the mail, and at the corner of Quincy and Clark streets saw him stop. Immediately thereafter a buggy in which were seated two men, drove out of Quincy-street and alongside of the mail wagon. They remained there only a few seconds and then drove off. JONES doing the same. He did not, however, Mr. MILLER was unable to see, as it was too dark. He followed the mail wagon to the depot, and, after the bags had been delivered, he examined them, and found that two had been cut open with a knife. Nothing was said to JONES about it. Yesterday afternoon a letter was received from a gentleman in Missouri stating that he had been notified that a draft had been mailed to him. It had not arrived, and he wanted to know if it had left the Post Office. When JONES made his appearance in the afternoon he was taken into custody, and had a hearing before United States Commissioner HOPPIN, and was held in $5,000 bail for trial. Who his confederates were is not known at present, but they will probably be secured before long, as the officers are on their track. How much the rate made by their joint partnership is hard to tell. Payments on many of the drafts stopped, but still the sum received by their sale, or outside parties, and received from the institutions on which they were drawn, must have been considerable, as many were probably paid previous to the discovery that they had been stolen.

Burglarism and Probable Murder in Vermont.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, Feb. 15.

ROGER BIRCHARD, of Dummerston, a backer about 70 years of age, was burned in his store, with the building and all its contents, Saturday night. Mr. BIRCHARD had been in trade full half a century, had always lived alone in his store, and was very obscure and penurious. His buildings were so full of goods and kept in such confusion that there was hardly space on the floor for the customers to stand; having, besides all the ordinary stocks of country stores, many Rebellion and national relics, so that strangers and Summer visitors to Brattleboro often made his "old curiosity shop" a stopping place during their drives, as it was only six miles distant. At first the general opinion in the vicinity was that the fire was accidental, as some $7,000 in Government and railroad bonds were found in a jar shut up in an iron safe, which had probably burned, but can probably all be identified and obtained on exact. But the custom rapidly grew that the origin was incendiarism, to cover the fearful crime of murder. For although the body, when found, was so much and so disfigured beyond recognition, it was made out that the head, which was found separate, was by blows, fractured, and the skull was, which was always securely closed, and hatched from the inside, was found unfastened, and was nearly crushed by blows, who was seated the building after the alarm. These facts seem to the theory of murder committed by some one secreted in the building before the store was closed. As it was well known he had a large amount of money and lived alone, perhaps this is plausible.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

A small collection of people gathered at the Exchange yesterday, and a single sale of real estate was made. MORRIS WILKINS, auctioneer for E. H. LUDLOW & CO., put up the premises No. 809 Washington street, consisting of a lot twenty-five feet by seventy-five, with a three-story brick store thereon, but after using his stentorian voice for sometime in vain, was compelled to withdraw the property. It was afterwards put up again and found a bidder at $12,300, which was just the amount of a mortgage on the premises with the accrued interest. From this point it was slowly worked up to $13,000, and then knocked down. The sale was made by order of JAMES L. FLINT, assignee of PATTERSON & CO.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

About 1 o'clock yesterday morning burglars were discovered in the store of JAMES ROOME, No. 29 Frankfort-street. Captain DE CAMP, Roundsmen ROGERS and Officer HOLMES, all of the Second Precinct, who happened to be near by, were notified by the person making the discovery, and hastened to the place, but before they could enter the store by the front door the burglars had escaped by the rear. An examination of the premises showed that they had entered the store through the scuttle, which they had gained from the adjoining building. They had thoroughly ransacked the place, and had so nearly completed their labors that eight bundles of calfskins were found in the alley-way adjoining the house, and two more in an alley-way in Gold-street. The opportune arrival of the officers had, however, forced them to abandon their booty and to see empty handed as they came.

The Free Church of the Redemption (Protestant Episcopal) held a delightful reunion on Thursday evening at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, on Twenty-third-street. The hall was filled at an early hour, and the reunion opened by an overture on the organ by HENRY EYRE BROWNE, The Rector, Rev. URIAH SMITH, gave a cordial welcome to his congregation. The amusement committee, ringers (Miss HIPPERT, Mr. WEMPLE, Mr. FIELD and Mr. BOULARD,) then gave a series of admirable performances, showing themselves equally skillful at the ring table with their 100 bells, which they handled with wonderful celerity and precision, or to their numerous songs and quartettes in which they were ably assisted by Miss DAMON.

The case of MARTIN R. COOK, junior partner of the firm of GORDON, FELLOWS AND MCMILLAN, liquor dealers, was called up in the United States Commissioner's office yesterday for examination. District-Attorney PIERREPONT was present to conduct the prosecution. The examination was adjourned until Monday, at the request of defendant's counsel.

Professor ROMMS repeated his lecture on the "History of the World," at Steinway Hall, last evening, to a numerous audience, in spite of rain, quite a large audience assembled. The lecture is both an interesting and an instructive one, whether you agree with the lecturer in his explanation of the Darwinian and "millions-of-years" theory or not. Some of the views are exceedingly beautiful.

The annual reception of the Cummings Association took place last evening at the Tenth-Avenue Armory, Ninth-avenue and Forty-fourth-street. A noticeable feature in the affair was the unusual excellence of the supper which embraced all the delicacies of the season, and was done ample justice to by a large party of ladies and gentlemen. The festivities did not terminate until an advanced hour this morning.

ALFRED BOX, Secretary of the Haytian Legation, a mulatto nearly 40 years of age, was arraigned at the Tombs Police Court yesterday, charged with attempting to commit a felonious assault on JAMES DUFF, an officer of the Twenty-ninth Precinct. The prosecutor testified that about 10 o'clock on Thursday evening he was called to the house No. 697 Broadway, where a woman named FANNY BUTLER charged the prisoner with attempting to choke her. He arrested him, and the latter immediately drew a revolver, and presenting it at his head threatened to shoot him. He succeeded, however, in making him a prisoner, and after conveying him to the station the revolver and a large dirk-knife were found in his possession. The prisoner did not deny the charge, and stated that he was induced to draw the revolver in the first instance to frighten the woman BUTLER into returning him a diamond pin which she stole from him. He was committed on a charge of disorderly conduct.

THOMAS W. DECKER, milk dealer, at No. 203 East Twenty-seventh-street, last evening notified Captain THOMAS, of the Twenty-first Precinct, that for some time past a young man who is described as of respectable appearance, has been swindling a number of residents of that precinct by making unauthorized collections of milk bills, the total amount of his peculations reaching $600. The marauder has not yet been arrested, nor is he known.

WASHINGTON'S Birthday will be commemorated next on Tuesday next with the usual ceremonies. Among other entertainments will be a literary and musical one, to be given by the Sunday School of the Alanson M. E. Church, in Norfolk-street, near Grand-street. The musical programme abounds with appropriate selections, and which will be rendered under the able direction of Mrs. AMELIA BOUTON, of the church choir. The literary features are equally attractive.

The two Bailey cases of alleged revenue frauds which Commissioner DELANO and District Attorney PIERREPONT have been investigating, are those of GORDAN, FELLOWS and MCMILLAN, and JOHN TRACY. The latter denies the story that criminal proceedings against him have been determined upon.

HORACE P. CLARKE, recently arrested at No. 46 Dye-street, on a charge of doing business as a rectifier without a license, was discharged yesterday, on the ground that he was not a rectifier or a compounder within the meaning of the law. Another charge is still pending against him.

A deputation of property owners on Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh and Thirtieth streets called on the Mayor yesterday afternoon to protest against the laying of "Stow foundation" pavement in these streets between Sixth-avenue and the North River, on the ground that Thirtieth-street is not graded, that most of the property on these streets is held by lease, and that the wooden pavement would be cut up by the heavy carting. Mayor HALL said he would lay these objections before the Common Council.

The suit recently commenced by Assistant District-Attorney EMERSON against the New-Haven Steamboat Company for the recovery of penalties for the transporting of empty whisky barrels with the stamps uncanceled, has been settled by the company's confessing judgment for $800.

The spots on the sun at present appear unusually large. On looking through an opera glass, with the eye carefully protected by a piece of smoked or deeply stained glass, a mark like a pencil line will at first be seen on the right of the sun's centre, at about noonday; then, on closer examination, two black spots will be seen; then, perhaps, the spots can be seen through the stained glass without the opera glass. These spots are miles in diameter. They are moving off from the face of the sun, but will appear again about the 11th of next month.
